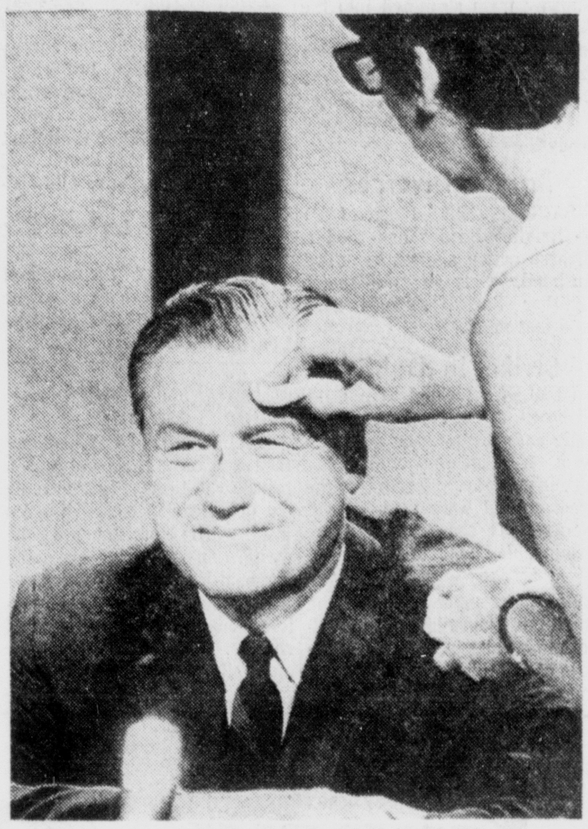
OPPOSING CAMPS—Gov. Ronald Regan passes in the background today at Miami as Rep. Rogers Morton of Maryland, Richard M. Nixon's floor manager, is busy in his job on the convention floor.



GETTING MADE UP — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller smiles while being made up for a television appearance. He claimed some growing support today in Miami for nominating him as Republican candidate.

Governor Gives Unruh Ultimatum

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has told Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh that the 1968 legislature — abruptly sent home despite Unruh's protests Saturday — could go back to work, but only on the Governor's terms.

Thirty Democrats showed up today in an attempt to convene the Legislature, while Republicans met in a closed caucus to map their own strategy.

Reagan's ultimatum, dispatched from the Republican National Convention at Miami Beach, Fla., demanded united support of Unruh and his Democratic Assembly colleagues "for my property and income tax relief programs."

An angry Unruh urgently requested a meeting with Reagan, in Florida if necessary, after Acting Gov. Hugh M. Burns dismissed the session Saturday. It was an historic action climaxing a simmering feud between Senate leaders and Unruh which finally boiled over into bitter argument.

Reagan refused, making clear he supported Burns, the Democratic president pro tem of the Senate who became acting governor when Reagan and Republican Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch both left the state Saturday to attend the convention.

Unruh vainly appealed to Finch to stay over in California and prevent the move, mapped out by Senate leaders after the Assembly proposed the legislature recess for more than a month and then try to work out the issues Unruh considered essential — new school aid, property tax relief and financial help for the San Francisco Bay Area rapid transit system.

In Miami Beach, the Reagan camp, pushing him for the GOP presidential nomination, made no secret of its delights over the unusual events in Sacramento.

Aware of what Burns might do, at the urging of his fellow senators, Reagan aides said with a chuckle, "We'll let the governor (Burns) handle it."

Unruh called assemblymen back to work today anyway, even though Burns — with the backing of the legislature's lawyer — said nothing they might do would have any legal standing.

In a telegram to Unruh yes-

One Bridge Bill Passes, One Fails

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Two major bills affecting the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, both by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, have met mixed fates, with one on the governor's desk for signature into law and the other killed.

The successful bill (SB 1013) would authorize the district to repay the state and the six counties in the district some $8 million. Introduced at the request of the district, the bill would allow repayment of $1,994,849 to the counties and about $6 million to the state.

The payments to the counties would reimburse them, at 4 per cent interest compounded annually, for property taxes paid by their residents between 1929 and 1931 to get the district started. Marin, which paid $14,220, would receive $60,695.

The payment to the state is for a $5 million loan to the district to build the second Waldo Tunnel and widen Marin approaches to the bridge. The loan is not due to be repaid until 1971, but the district agreed to seek the legislation so it can negotiate an early repayment.

The unsuccessful bill (SB 724) would have given the district vast new powers to finance any project by empowering its directors to sell revenue bonds financed by bridge tolls. This bill failed to clear the Senate floor, and was referred, possibly for interim study, to the rules committee.

Weapons Search At Newton Trial

OAKLAND (AP) — Prosecution of Black Panther Huey Newton, charged with the murder of a white policeman, began today after the judge had issued an unusual order that everyone entering the courtroom be searched for weapons.

"Various rumors have reached the court of possible harm to the defendant, to witnesses for the people and for the defendant," said Superior Court Judge Monroe Friedman.

"It is the duty of the court to use all reasonable means to see that the defendant is fully protected and that witnesses, both for the people and the defendant, be protected."

Florida Train Collision Hurts 50

WINTER HAVEN, Fla (AP)— Two sections of the Seaboard Coast Line's Silver Meteor passenger train smashed into each other on a curve today and at least 50 riders were reported injured. There was no immediate report of fatalities.

"They're having to pry them out with crowbars and acetylene torches," said Deputy Ed Lockwood of the sheriff's office.

The railroad headquarters at Jacksonville said the northbound Silver Meteor was due at Winter Haven at 12:35 p.m. EDT and the southbound section at 12:14 p.m.

Four diesel engines, two on each train, and nine passenger cars were derailed.

Ambulances were leaving the wreck site two miles south of here in a steady stream, carrying the injured to hospitals. Emergency calls were made for more ambulances.

Firefighting equipment also was dispatched when one of the diesels caught fire on impact. Police said three trainmen were trapped in one of the engines.

Normally, each of the trains carries 16 cars but Seaboard said it wasn't known how many were being pulled by the ones involved in he crash.

Winter Haven, in central Florida, is about 40 miles east of Tampa.

Reagan Declares His Candidacy

Miami Conclave Opens

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Ronald Reagan of California today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president "as of this moment."

Reagan made the announcement to a news conference a few minutes after the California delegation to the GOP National Convention unanimously asked him to drop his favorite son position and actively pursue the nomination.

'LIFE EASIER'

"As of this moment and in conformity and in keeping with this resolution, I am a candidate before this convention," said the governor.

Reagan said that the resolution "certainly makes life easier."

As the Republican Party opened its 29th national convention today Richard M. Nixon was pushing hard to win the GOP presidential nomination on the first ballot.

By the Associated Press's count he was about 100 votes short and his two top challengers, Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Reagan were pinning their hopes on extending the balloting Wednesday night beyond two rounds.

Rockefeller got a big break when the 58-vote Ohio delegation caucused just before the opening and decided to stick with Gov. James A. Rhodes, a favorite son, on the first ballot.

SOME SUCCESS

Reagan, meanwhile, was striving to pick off individual delegates—an effort which Rockefeller said at a news conference was meeting with some success.

Of his own efforts, he said he is picking up "bits and pieces." The governor said his count showed Nixon with 550, himself with 350 and Reagan with 250.

The AP figured it Nixon 566, Rockefeller 232 and Reagan 159, with 144 delegates uncommitted and a whopping 232 for favorite sons. Needed for victory: 667.

The Ohioans, meanwhile, decided at a breakfast meeting to stand behind Rhodes, at least on

Humphrey Adds Alioto To List

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

MIAMI BEACH — Here is the latest intelligence on the vice presidential nominations by both leading candidates:

Hubert Humphrey, still hopeful that Sen. Edward Kennedy will reconsider, is adding a new and unexpected name at the top of his list of alternatives, Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco.

Richard Nixon, the probable Republican nominee, remains uncommitted and uncertain as to whom he would choose for his running mate. He is collating the recommendations he has received from several hundred GOP leaders.

There isn't a consensus in a carload. Among those who have advised Nixon in the last few days no single candidate emerges with dominant support. And anyway the final decision is not going to be put to a vote. Nixon will make it and, if he is nominated, the convention will accept it.

Nixon has many to choose from.

Humphrey has far fewer to choose from.

He is not giving up his hope that a crescendo demand within the Democratic Party and particularly among party leaders will persuade the late Robert Kennedy's brother, Edward, to change his publicly stated position that under no circumstances would he accept.

He said his decision was "firm and final," but there is no doubt that Edward Kennedy would add luster and vote-getting appeal.

Obviously the Democrats are not going to take Kennedy's first two or three "no" without trying harder. But Humphrey knows that he must be politically viable alternative. Sources I have talked with in Washington have reason to know that Humphrey is very high on Alioto who, though his name is not presently well known nationally, has proved himself to be an exciting, dynamic mayor with sucess in dealing with race relations, ghetto unrest, and the enlistment of private businesses to create jobs for the hard-core unemployed.

Humphrey apparently is convinced that Alioto would quickly emerge as an effective campaigner as he did when he came from behind to win the mayoralty of San Francisco last year. The Vice President is also aware that Alioto is Italian-American and that Italian-Americans make up the biggest ethnic bloc in the U.S.

Alioto is not a late-comer to

Convention Mood Is Very Serious

By SEN. EVERETT M. DIRKSEN

The mood of the Republican National Convention at Miami is serious.

It was so when platform hearings before the coordinating committee began two years ago. Thousands of words of testimony from the best brains available to the party were recorded. Then there was talk of disagreement, even minority reports. (See platform story, page 11.)

A week ago the delegates to the platform committee met in a get-acquainted session. They listened from nine in the morning until late at night to spokesmen from groups that ran the gamut of the entire American economic and social structure.

For three and a half days they listened. Then it was their turn to talk. Yesterday morning after three straight days of 18-hour sessions it all came to an end.

The last nail went into the last plank. The final vote was 101 to 0. The platform was finished. It is a good platform.

They say that God watches over the American people and I believe it. The delegates here are convinced that God and events are on their side. They smell victory in November.

General Wounded, Copter Shot Down

VIETNAM WAR TOP PROBLEM, SURVEY SHOWS

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Some 52 per cent of Americans, a growing number, view the Vietnam was as the nation's most serious problem, according to the Gallup Poll.

The Gallup organization announced yesterday that the latest survey shows 10 per cent more persons listed the war was the country's number on problem than did on a poll taken in early May.

In the latest sampling, taken in mid-July, the Republican Party was given a slim lead the party best able to deal with the problems of the war, Gallup said.

Lawlessness was called most important by 29 per cent of those responding in the latest poll while 13 per cent cited race relations.

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong wounded an American general whose son was killed in action in 1967 and shot down a helicopter in two fights south of Saigon today. U.S. infantrymen reported killing 41 of the enemy and capturing 19 weapons.

U.S. casualties were two killed and 13 wounded, including Brig. Gen. Franklin M. Davis Jr., 50, commander of the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade.

Davis was cut about the face by shrapnel and gashed over his right eye when a band of Viet Cong guerrillas showered rocket grenades on an allied river patrol from mangrove swamps along a river bank 13 miles southeast of Saigon.

YOUNGEST SON

Davis, who is from Waltham, Mass., is one of half a dozen American generals wounded in Vietnam, while another three have been killed. Davis' youngest son, 2nd Lt. Stephen Davis, was killed in action in Vietnam in 1967.

Enemy gunners shot down another army helicopter 50 miles southwest of Da Nang as it was going in to pick up a Viet Cong waving a flag, believing that he wanted to surrender. Instead, enemy gunners hiding nearby opened fire when the helicopter was within range. Four crew members were wounded but were rescued.

803 LOSSES

The two helicopter losses raised to 803 the number shot down in combat during the war.

In the central highlands near Dak Pe, a small Army observation plane was shot down but the crew was rescued. It was the 292nd fixed-wing American plane downed in combat in South Vietnam.

In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. pilots flew 100 missions yesterday against enemy supply lines south of the 19th parallel. Pilots reported destroying or damaging 49 supply boats, eight trucks, 11 storage buildings and eight bridges.

U.S. headquarters said several surface-to-air missiles were fired at the raiding planes 10 miles south of the 19th parallel but all missed.

Concrete Block Tossed At Bus

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two women riding on a sightseeing bus on the Hollywood Freeway were slightly injured when a concerte block tossed from an overpass crashed through the windshield.

Guy Alvin Spencer, 21, and two juveniles, ages 16 and 17, were later booked on suspicion of throwing an object at a moving vehicle ad causing injures.

The women suffered cuts by shattered glass.

Officers said the bus driver telephoned police minutes after the incident yesterday and the three were apprehended on the overpass in the city's Echo Park district.

Gun Control Ballot Out This Year

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Californians will not vote this November on whether they want their legislators to enact stiffer gun control laws.

The Assembly Saturday rejected, on a 29-28 vote, 12 short of approval, a measure that would have put the question of stronger gun controls before the electorate.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a strong proponent of stiffer controls and the advisory ballot question, urged colleagues to cast affirmative ballots for the measure.

But Assemblyman Robert Burke, R-Huntington Beach, said putting the question of gun controls on the ballot had "no significance to the Legislature at all.

"We're saying to the people of our districts we don't have the guts to vote on this (legislation) up here," Burke said.

Hanoi Aide Refuses Battle Lull Comment

PARIS (AP) —The North Vietnamese spokesman at the Paris peace talks repeatedly refused today to say whether Hanoi officials believe there is political significance in the relative lull in fighting in South Vietnam.

The spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le, told a news conference questions concerning South Vietnam are decided by the South Vietnamese people. Rejected efforts to get him to expand the comment failed.

On July 18 it was reported that North Vietnamese officials had told neutral Western diplomats here that the Communists had taken a step toward de-escalating the war. A North Vietnamese diplomat asserted the halt then in rocket attacks on Saigon was intentional and related to the Paris peace talks with the United States.

Last Friday, the Washington Post reported North Vietnamese authorities had acknowledged political significance in the decreased fighting level in South Vietnam and claimed this was being ignored by Washington. Later the source of the story was identified as Col. Ha Van Lau, deputy leader of the North Vietnamese peace delegation.

Le, the spokesman, was asked about the Friday account and said he had been authorized to say: "Questions about South Vietnam are decided by the people of South Vietnam under the leadership of the National Liberation Front. As far as we are concerned we came here with good will and determination."

Asked again "is the story true?" Le replied: "I responded to the question," and would not elaborate.

The issue is important in that the United States has insisted North Vietnam must show some sign of restraint to match the partial U.S. bombing halt on North Vietnam before the bombing is stopped altogether.

Berkeley Mayor Calls For Mall

BERKELEY (AP) — Mayor Wallace Johnson has suggested the city build a mall along Telegraph Avenue, but not the kind that young activists have demanded.

He unveiled Sunday a scheme he said would close 12 businessess — among them three coffee houses, a bookstore and a hippie clothing store.

He proposed the city buy 250 feet of commercial frontage at a depth of 40 feet, tear it down, landscape it and rename it Telegraph Plaza.

Young activists clashed with police on Telegraph and held a rally July 4 at the intersection of Haste. One of their demands was that Telegraph be made into a pedestrian mall.

DAMAGED PLANE—An airliner, its front ripped after a collision with a private plane over southern Wisconsin, landed safely yesterday after flying several miles with part of the wreckage imbedded in its fuselage. (UPI Telephoto)

Clashes Kill 11 Along Korea Border

SEOUL (AP) — One American, one South Korean and at least nine North Koreans were killed today and yesterday in a rash of shooting incidents along the Korean frontier. Five Americans also were wounded.

One clash occurred less than one mile from Panmunjom as the 275th joint military armistice commission meeting was in progress.

Military spokesmen said one American soldier and at least one North Korean were killed and four Americans were wounded. Troops from the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division pursued a handful of North Korean infiltrators after the 30-minute firefight, but the North Koreans escaped back across the border.

When word of the shooting reached the armistice commission meeting, U.S. Army Maj. Gen. Gilbert N. Woodward, the senior U.N. Command delegate, proposed to his North Korean counterpart, Maj. Gen. Park Chung-kook a visit to the scene together. The North Korean refused.

This brought to 18 the number of North Korean infiltrators killed since July 25. At least 70 North Koreans and eight American soldiers have been killed so far this year in clashes along the frontier.

Three Die As Airliner, Private Plane Collide

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A jet-prop airliner, with the wreckage of a light plane and the bodies of its three young passengers embedded in its side, landed safely yesterday before most of the 10 passengers aboard knew what happened.

Capt. Ted Baum, 43, Skokie, Ill., brought the twin-engine plane in with one engine dead and his copilot badly injured in the cockpit.

"I thought that something was wrong, but not a collision," said Mrs. Nancy Steffens, 44, of Two Rivers. "I was more nervous after I got on the ground and realized it had been a collision."

"We didn't know what hit us. I think only the stewardess knew," said Wilma Ross, 17, of Saginaw, Mich., "and she just told us to stay seated with our seat belts on. The pilot came down with what seemed like a normal landing."

Officials said the single-engine Cessna 150 rammed North Central Airlines Flight 261, a Convair 580, over southern Wisconsin. The light plane hit just behind the copilot's seat, also damaging the propeller on the plane's right engine.

The copilot, first officer John Mazur, 30, of Wheaton, Ill., suffered multiple fractures of his right leg and head injuries. He was reported in serious condition in a Milwaukee hospital.

The victim's bodies were removed after the plane landed. They were identified as Rick L. Stenberg, 19, of Elk Grove Village, Ill., the pilot; Virginia Johnson, 18, Mount Prospect, Ill., and her brother, Richard, 12.

"That pilot did a fantastic landing job," a federal official said. Otherwise there was no comment as a team of about 35 National Transportation Safety Board investigators led by board examiner Thomas Saunders arrived from Washington to probe the cause of the crash.

Milwaukee police said the pilots told authorities they were flying 170 miles per hour at 3,500 feet, preparing to land at Milwaukee, when the private plane appeared suddenly on their right, then veered into the liner. The flight originated in Chicago and was headed to Manitowoc, with a stop at Milwaukee.

Hanoi Claims Broadcast By Prisoner

HONG KONG (AP) — Radio Hanoi broadcast today what it said was the voice of a captured U.S. Air Force pilot urging the withdrawal of American forces in Vietnam and end to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

"The obvious and correct solution to the Vietnam problem is for the U.S. to stop all bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam and withdraw all U.S. troops from South Vietnam," said the broadcast, attributed to Lt. Col. Robinson Risner of Tulsa, Okla.

There was no way of telling whether it was Risner who spoke. He was captured when hs plane was downed over North Vietnam Sept. 16, 1965. He was one of a number of pilots paraded through the streets of Hanoi.

The broadcast deplored the high cost of the war in Vietnam, and the number of lives lost. Risner was quoted as saying: "Although the intensity of the air war has been stepped up, production (in North Vietnam) has remained stable—indeed some segments of the economy have been stimulated by the war."

Chained Airman Claims Air Force Action Wrong

By MARY LEYDECKER

Attorneys for a 21-year-old Air Force sergeant who was chained to a minister in an antiwar demonstration last month today accused the Air Force of turning a "simple AWOL charge into desertion because the Air Force got bad publicity."

Sgt. Oliver V. Hirsh of Allentown, Pa., who has engaged San Francisco lawyer Terence K. Hallinan in addition to his military counsel, is asking a discharge instead of a court martial.

A preliminary hearing was held today at Hamilton Air Force Base by an Air Force attorney, Capt. Perry T. Foster, appointed to investigate whether Hirsh should be court-martialed. Captain Foster said his recommendation will not be binding on the military.

With the clipped tones of attorney Hallinan contrasting with the Southern cadence of Hirsh's Air Force counsel, Capt. Fred T. Graham, the Air Force was accused by both of "unscrupulous conduct."

"Two simple AWOLs were turned into a desertion charge because the Air Force didn't like the publicity over the demonstration in San Francisco and Marin City churches," Captain Graham said.

"This man should have been administratively discharged a long time ago and would have been if his pschiatrist had not been so slow," the Army captain claimed.

Hirsh is charged with being absent without leave from June 7 to 27 and with desertion from June 27 to July 17, when he and eight other servicemen were arrested at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City during an antiwar demonstration.

Army Capt. Paul J. Melichar, a Presidio of San Francisco psychiatrist, treated Hirsh for some weeks this spring after Hirsh apparently decided he could not continue his military career.

During one of Hirsh's AWOL periods, Dr. Melichar wrote that Hirsh was "unlikely to carry out dependably" military duties in the future, although the doctor thought he could do military service satisfactorily if he decided he wanted to.

The clean-cut, short-haired, boyish looking sergeant had served two years in the Air Force with an "excellent record" before he decided that he disagreed with the war in Vietnam.

After a stay at Letterman General Hospital's psychiatric ward, he has twice been absent without leave.

He returned from the first absence June 27 and told Captain Melichar he wanted to continue in military service, but he again absented himself instead of returning to his station, Almaden Air Force Base near San Jose.

Crowding the small courtroom at Hamilton were about fifteen flower children, bearded young men and long-haired young women, several clergymen and a handful of neatly dressed officers' wives. The observers were quiet, but Hirsh was supported with encouraging smiles from his antiwar friends.

Captain Foster is not expected to announce his recommendation for several days.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Children Cannot Change Names

Any adult can change his name if he wants to. But not a child.

When Rose Dash's parents were divorced, the court placed Rose in her mother's custody. Her mother remarried a Mr. Kennedy, and in due time other children appeared.

Rose's mother thought it would be nice and less confusing to have Rose change her name to Kennedy also.

But Rose's father did not like it and protested that Rose should proudly bear the Dash family name. He went to court and the court agreed.

Now, an adult can change his name anytime to anything he wants, just so long as he does not do so to defraud others. A person cannot object because another wants to change his name to a similar name, let's say to John D. Rockerfellow. A court can stop him only if he is likely to pass himself off as the "real" original.

But no monor has such a right to change his name at will. The law presumes that fit parents know and act in the child's best interest. As for divorced parents, the one with custody of the minor has much to say about the child's education and supervison, including questions of his religion or medical care.

But the father has a protectible interest in having his child bear his surname. The court will not authorize a change in name over the father's objection merely to save the mother and child inconvenience or embarassment.

Of course, the court primarily seeks the child's best interest.

An adopted child takes on his new parents' name. As a rule, no one can adopt a child without the consent of its natural parents. Of course, if a parent has "abandoned" the child, the court does not need his consent to go ahead with adoption proceedings, and a change in name.

When is there abandonment? When a parent has failed to communicate with the child for a long time, or when the parent has shown no interest whatsoever in the child for more than a year.

Although adults may change their names without court order, it usually helps to get a court order making the change. The court order records the change, and gives the community notice of it. But the court action adds nothing to the legal effect of a new name.

SESSION

terday. Reagan said "the Legislature has had several months to adopt my recommendations for property tax and income tax relief ... Under the circumstances, I do not see how a meeting in Miami (Beach) can accomplish anything that you could not have accomplished in the last seven months."

When Unruh agreed to Reagan's proposals, the governor added, "I will be glad to discuss with you, in Sacramento, methods of securing Senate support for that program and methods of carrying it out."

Regan could call a special session when the lawmakers return in September for the five-day meeting required by the constitution to consider gubernatorial vetoes.

Throughout the 209-day long session, Reagan was thwarted by political and personality clashes from getting his requested $155 million property tax relief and $35 million in income tax cuts for middle-bracket taxpayers. Another unresolved issue is financial help for the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which needs $144 million to complete its system.

Tempers hit the boiling point in early morning hours Saturday when the Senate flatly rejected a last-ditch Assembly tax and school aid proposal — A patchwork $289 million proposal branded later by Senate Finance Committee Chairman George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, as "the stinkiest, smelliest" package of legislation he had ever seen.

Miller, a longtime foe of Unruh's, denounced the Assembly leaders for "holding bills for ransom until they get what they want."

"I'm tired of this nonsense," Miller said as he argued for passage of a resolution asking Burns to dismiss the legislature under a constitutional provision used only once before in 1886, and never by an acting governor. It allows the governor to adjourn the legislature if the lawmakers themselves can't agree on adjournment.

The resolution passed 17-9 and Burns signed the adjournment proclamation at 4:45 p.m.

Unruh took quick steps to claim there was no disagreement over adjournment and mentioned possible legal action.

"They'd better get a good lawyer because we're going to have one, too," said Miller, part of the ruling Senate group which met earlier with Assembly leaders in Unruh's office.

MIAMI

the first round. All but two of the 58 acceeded to this tactic. The two mavericks were considered Nixon men.

The delegation chairman, John S. Andrews, said Reagan was trying to meet with the group and "we are attempting to work that out."

At the same time, Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's chief press spokesman, was telling reporters the former vice president did not intend to leave the choice of a running mate to the delegates.

Rather, Klein said, Nixon "will ask the convention to nominate his choice" and will disclose his choice after the presidential nominee is picked.

Nixon was due to fly in from New York later today to direct his drive from up close.

Reagan, quoted as telling an Alabama delegation caucus "I'm in this to win," was by all odds the busiest candidate in this overstuffed and overheated convention town.

Taking time out for a $500 plate fund-raising gala, Reagan scooted about town, meeting with southern and Rocky Mountain delegations in his efforts to win first ballot support away from Nixon.

Rockefeller was assured Massachusetts' 34 votes on the first round because of his write-in victory in that state's primary. However, Gov. John A. Volpe was working hard to swing a majority to Nixon on the second ballot, if there is one, despite his all but vanished hopes for the vice presidential nomination.

The ring of the Nixon anvil was predominant, although the candidate himself refrained from predicting a first ballot win. Nixon was to arrive for the convention tonight.

The Nixon pressure was such that Reagan felt it necessary to tell supporters of the former vice president in his California delegation that they would be "very foolish" if they tried to defect from his favorite son candidacy on the first ballot.

There was an internal move within the 26-vote Maryland delegation by Nixon supporters to desert the favorite son candidacy of Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, who admits he is leaning toward a Nixon endorsement but says he could change his mind.

Agnew is scheduled to announce his course at a caucus of the group tonight.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky promised to produce "sufficiently convincing evidence" at a caucus later in the day to persuade his state's 24-vote delegation to go for Nixon in the initial balloting.

Nunn said he thinks the former vice president will get a minimum of 20 votes from Kentucky.

Gov. David F. Cargo of New Mexico, who said he wants to preserve the neutrality of his state's 14-vote delegation until Tuesday, scheduled a conference with Nixon. His delegation was reported about evenly split between Nixon and Reagan.

Chicago Adopts Pollution Laws

CHICAGO (AP) — Air pollution control in Chicago may become more effective now that a package of 17 new amendments has been adopted by the City Council.

Most effective provision is eventual stoppage of burning garbage in coal burners and unapproved incinerators.

Director William J. Stanley said the new amendments were necessary to bring about a visual reduction of air pollution in high density areas of the city.

The first revision since 1959, the legislation will reduce pollution from incineration and garbage burning by 70 per cent.

Other provisions control particle emission from fuel-burning units. The sulphur content of fuels will be limited.

Eight-Second Kiss Costs Driver $25

CHICAGO (UPI)—An arresting office testified that the kiss he witnessed in another car as he drove alongside lasted eight seconds by his watch.

A Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, judge ruled this constituted failure on the part of the motorist to exercise due care and attention to driving on a city street and fined the 19-year-old driver $25.

the Humphrey cause. He has been an active advocate of Humphreys nomination from the start.

What Nixon wants is a running mate who can strengthen the GOP ticket in the cities and in the big states.

It, perhaps, should not be overlooked that both parties could end up nominating Italian-Americans for the vice presidency — Mayor Alioto, and Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts.

Chicago Ponders Airport At Lake

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's proposed in-the-lake airport has gained official support from city planners.

The commissioners of aviation, development and planning and public works are giving favorable reports to Mayor Richard J. Daley, who is selecting a site for a third airport.

The Lake Michigan site would be developed into a 27-square-mile air field by a system of dikes. It would have parallel runways of 15,000 feet each and facilities for passengers, cargo and auto parking.

Scheduled for completion in the late 1970s, it would be 5½ miles offshore at 31st street.

Advantages are its promimity to the city, reduced travel time and commercial development prospects closer to the core of the city.

San Rafael Schools Face Higher Budgets, Tax Hikes

The San Rafael Board of Education will consider proposed budgets tomorrow of $4,732,902 in its elementary district, requiring an estimated tax rate increase of .6 of one cent per $100 assessed valuation, and $4,636,560 in the high school district, requiring a rate increase of about 10.8 cents.

The board will hold its public hearing on the budget at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building at Third and E streets.

Including payments for bonded indebtedness and equalization of property assessments, Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte said, the total tax rates will be $3.136 in the elementary district, up 6.1 cents from last year, and $2.30 in the high school district, an increase of 16 cents.

In a story in Friday's paper, the Independent-Journal incorrectly reported that the general operating tax rates are expected ro rise five cents in the elementary district and 15 cents in the high school district.

Condrotte said the operating tax rate in the elementary district — the tax rate that meets the budget — is expected to be $1.616, a slight hike from last year's $1.61. The high school rate is expected to be $2.058, compared to $1.95 last year.

In each case, he noted, a 10 cent override tax is included for replacement of buildings that do not meet earthquake standards.

City and federal narcotics agents, who took part in the raid, said it was one of the year's largest seizures of the weed. Its value was estimated at $200,000.

Charged with possession of narcotics and possession with intent to sell were: Vernon Herbert, 21, of Coconut Grove, Fla.; Barry Hunter, 22, of Coral Gables, Fla., and Dominic Avitabile, 22, of Paterson, N.J.

Violence Hits York Streets Second Night

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Street violence hit this south central Pennsylvania city for the second straight night yesterday and sporadic trouble calls kept police and firemen on the move through the early morning hours today.

Roving gangs of young Negroes smashed windows, pelted motorists with bricks and rocks and set at least eight fires during what the city's public safety director, Jacob W. Hose, described as a "planned operation."

Random shots were heard in the troubled area on the city's Southwest Side as the disturbance started and Hose said at least one bullet was aimed at a police cruiser.

Three persons were arrested.

One of the targets of firebombs was a meat market which was the center of a gunfight and shooting Saturday night, which left eleven persons wounded, 10 by shotgun pellets and one by a .38-caliber bullet.

'Brain Death' Basis Asked As Guideline

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A committee of Harvard University faculty members say "brain death" or "irreversible coma" should be a basis for pronouncing death even though in some cases the heart may continue to beat.

A set of medical guidelines for such a definition, published in today's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, says it is needed for two reasons:

"Improvements in resuscitation and supportive measures which have led to increased efforts to save those who are desperately injured: Individuals whose hearts continue to beat but whose brains are irreversibly damaged."

"The use of obsolete criteria for the definition of death which can lead to controversy in obtaining organs for transplantation."

The 12-member committee is composed of the faculties of medicine, public health, divinity and arts and sciences. Its chairman is Dr. Henry K. Beecher, professor of research in anesthesia at Harvard and the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The group set numerous guidelines for determining the characteristics of a "permanently nonfunctioning brain," including clinical tests for unreceptivity and unresponsivity, lack of movement and breathing, and absence of reflexes. It also suggested obtaining confirmatory data by the electroencephalegram.

The committee said that clinical and other tests should be repeated at least 24 hours after the initial tests. They said final determination of death should be made only by a physician, not by the family, and that the decision "should be made by physicians not involved in any later effort to transplant organs or tissue from the deceased individual."

3-D Television May Be On Way

PASADENA (AP) — Recent experiments may point the way toward three-dimensional television.

The process uses laser beams to convert black and white photographs into three-D color.

"Application of this technique to TV would involve transmitting photos by existing television systems, perhaps using several channels, Dr. Nicholas George of the California Institute of Technology reported yesterday. He is an associate professor of electrical engineering

Photos taken from a camera at different angles would be rephotographed in laser beam light and the images divided into various colors, transmitted on several channels and projected into receivers, he said.

Fire Traded After Israeli Plane Strike

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab and Israeli forces exchanged fire across the Jordan River for the second straight day today following aretaliatory strike by Israeli warplanes which the Israelis claimed destroyed Arab guerrilla bases only 15 miles from the Jordanian capital of Amman.

An Israeli army spokesman said Jordanian troops rained bazooka and mortar shells on three settlements in the Beisan Valley. Israeli forces returned the fire, he said, and no Israeli casualties were reported.

Israeli jets streaked across the Jordan River yesterday and dealt what military spokesmen called "a substantial blow" to Arab guerrilla bases inside Jordan.

Jordan reported 23 civilians and five of its soldiers killed in the air attack and 82 persons wounded. It claimed one U.S.-built Israeli Skyhawk jet was downed. But Israel said all of its planes returned safely.

Both Jordan and Israel notified the U.N. Security Council of the air raid, and Jordan charged the Israelis with aggression. But neither asked for any U.N. action.

The air strike—first in two months against Jordanian territory—"completely destroyed" two guerrilla bases near the town of Salt, 11 miles across the Jordan River and 15 miles west of the capital, the Israeli chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev reported.

Czech Party Chief Assures State Of Liberal Course

PRAGUE (AP) — A truce prevailed in the Soviet bloc today with Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leaders and the Soviet press each assuring their people all was well in the wake of the Bratislava conference.

Observers in Prague foresaw more strains between the Czechoslovak leadership and such defenders of the Communist status quo as Walter Ulbricht of East Germany and Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland. But the future looked brighter for party chief Alexander Dubcek and his associates than it had in many weeks.

Dubcek gave fresh assurances to dispell any lingering suspicions that his group had been forced off their liberal course by the Russians and their allies at the meetings in Slovakia last week.

"We are determined to continue on the road we have taken," Dubcek said in a broadcast last night. "For the people of this republic there is no other way."

Dubcek asserted that Czechoslovakia's "expectations were fulfilled" at the Bratislava meeting Saturday with the Russians and the Communist leaders of East Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria and Poland.

He pointed out that the joint declaration signed at the meeting contained a virtual hands off pledge that leaves Czechoslovakia free to continue its new course.

The document guaranteed the right of every party to develop along its own lines, "taking into account the national characteristic and conditions" of each country. It also bound all signatories to close cooperation in matters dealing with foreign policy.

Dubcek said it was acknowledged in Bratislava that "mutual relations of Socialist countries must be based on real internationalism, which harmoniously combines the principles of equality, sovereignty, national independence and territorial inviolability."

He said this "fully complies with the regeneration process started in January" when Dubcek and his associates ousted President Antonin Novotny and others of the party old guard.

Dubcek spoke of the possibility of further democratization in Czechoslovakia and re-emphasized that "we are determined to continue advancing the post-January road." At another point he added: "There are no justified fears for our sovereignty."

By avoiding any outright claim of victory, Dubcek appeared to be trying once more to save the Russians face.

Dubcek also gave assurance that "No other conclusions have been adopted (at Bratislava) apart from the document published."

Pope Paul Says Birth Encyclical Misunderstood By Some Critics

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pope Paul VI said yesterday that his encyclical banning artificial birth control had been misunderstood by some critics and emphasized it did not bar "reasonable" limitation of families. But meanwhile the dispute among Roman Catholics over obedience to the papal ban showed no sign of abating.

Adressing thousands of pilgrims to his summer residence south of Rome, the 70-year-old pontiff said the policy he proclaimed "is not in itself opposed — as some seem to think—to a reasonable limitation of birth, nor to scientific research and therapeutic cures, nor even to a truly responsible parenthood nor to peace and family harmony."

The Pope's encyclical, Of Human Life, renewed the church's prohibition against chemical and mechanical methods of contraception. Total abstinence and the rhythm method of abstinence during the wife's fertility period remain the only methods approved by the church.

Obviously concerned by the growing opposition to his decision, the Pope said: "We know that there are many who have not appreciated our teaching. In fact many oppose it. In a certain sense we can understand this incomprehension and also this opposition."

But he gave no indications of retreating from his decision, and said his encyclical "is derived from the laws of God." While not issued as infallible, the encyclical is considered binding on the world's half-billion Catholics.

American Catholics who went to church on the first Sunday after the encyclical was issued heard every shade of comment from their priests, including outspoken support for the Pope by high church officials, "It's up to you" statements by some lower ranking clerics, and open opposition by other priests and theologians.

In Washington, the Catholic University of America announced that the number of American Catholic theologians opposing the Pope's ban on artificial contraception had risen to 222.

"I am surprised and saddened by the actions of these gentlemen—actions which are setting the church on fire," said Washington's Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle in a sermon urging obedience to the Pope. But later in the day 52 of the priests in the cardinal's archdiocese signed a declaration reaffirming the position taken before the encyclical by the Association of Washington Priests that Catholics have the right "to responsibly practice birth control."

The Pope's position was also supported by John Cardinal Cody, the archbishop of Chicago, and by Msgr. Thomas J. McGovern of the archdiocese of New York.

But in Albany, N.Y., the Rev. Bernard J. Lannon told worshipers at Holy Spirit Church: "We must listen to other voices in the church and, in the final analysis, it is a personal decision."

In the Newark, N.J. archdiocese, 24 priests signed a statement indicating they believe Roman Catholics could use artificial contraception in some cases. The Rev. Thomas J. Murtha, chairman of the meeting, said the statement meant that "if someone comes into confession and says he practices birth control but does not think it is a sin, we will respect that judgment."

The Rev. John Finnegan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Detroit, said the encyclical is not infallible, "the Holy Father simply reaffirmed his personal opinion . . . A lot still depends on the individual couple."

Hippie LSD Use Hinders Research

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hippies and others who have "irresponsibly" used the psychedelic drug LSD have thwarted basic research of the drug, says a scientist.

Julius Silverman, research phychologist with the National Institute of Mental Health, said yesterday in an interview.

"Generalizations about the effects of the drug picked up from reports of experiments in the streets have made it very difficult for researchers in this country.

The Bethesda, Md., researcher said the institute is anxious to get information on LSD because much of the literature now circulated "is opinionated and dealing with inadequately controlled experimentation."

More Volunteers Sought To Aid Marin City Project

Volunteers are being sought to do jobs like building a fence and pouring concrete Aug. 17, the fourth workday aimed at expanding Marin City's only supervised play area.

Approximately 20 volunteers were on hand Saturday for the third such effort, according to Alvin Allen of Marin City, who supervised the work.

He said the upcoming workday will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The playground operated by St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church and the Maringate Nursery School, with Mrs. Ethel Perry as supervisor, is south of the church at Drake Avenue and Donahue Street.

Work yet to be accomplished, according to Allen, includes the finishing touches on a fence, erecting a small storage shed, building three raised planting areas, and putting in grass, tanbark and paving.

He said he expects to hold three more workdays, in addition to Aug. 17, and complete the project by late September or early October.

Cash donations for the project have reached $2,000, said Rev. Don Schilling, co-pastor of the church, but another $2,700 is needed to purchase play equipment, cement and tanbark.

Mailliard Sets Visits To Marin

Three more public appearances by Marin's new congressman, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, have been announced for this week.

The Republican Alliance will sponsor a cocktail reception for Mailliard from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley. Immediately after the reception, Mailliard will speak at a dinner by the Mill Valley Lions Club in the Mill Valley Golf Club.

On Thursday, Mailliard will meet with party volunteers at Marin Republican headquarters, 915 Lootens Place, San Rafael.

Car Burglarized At Theater Lot

Burglars took nine stereophonic tapes worth $56 total, and $100 in clothing Saturday in an auto-break-in, San Anselmo police reported today.

Laxalt's Tip Brings Miami Rifle Arrest

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Authorities alerted by a tip from Nevada's governor arrested a 29-year-old man today who they said had shipped a rifle to his room at a hotel housing two delegations to the Republican National Convention.

Dade County sheriff's police said James Chad Anderson of Kanab, Utah, was charged with vagrancy and volunteered to undergo psychiatric tests.

TELLS OFFICIALS

Nevada Gov. Paul Laxalt said he recognized Anderson and told hotel officials of his presence. Laxalt said authorities were called after the man inquired about fishing tackle he was having shipped here.

Lt. James Vermilye, in charge of the Dade County criminal intelligence unit, said the FBI and Secret Service joined police in a check that "revealed a .22-caliber rifle had been shipped to Anderson's room at the hotel."

Vermilye quoted Anderson as saying the rifle was an antique that he had included in the package containing fishing tackle he planned to use at this Florida resort city.

NO CONNECTION

Laxalt said he recognized Anderson, who had no connection with the convention, as a former Las Vegas, Nev., resident.

The governor told a state caucus the man had been writing unintelligible letters to some delegates.

He added to newsmen, however, that the letters did not contain any threats. Laxalt described them as gibberish.

Both the Nevada and Oklahoma delegations are housed in the Golden Gate Hotel where Anderson was registered.

Toll Reaches 214 In Manila Quake

MANILA (UPI)—An army of workers dug in the rubble of an earthquake-shattered apartment house today but the head of the rescue operation said hope was gone for the 200 persons still buried in the debris.

The toll from Friday's earthquake reached 214 today, including the 164 bodies already dug from the Ruby Towers apartment house in Manila's Santa Cruz district. Forty persons who survived the apartment house collapse died later in hospitals and 10 were killed in other parts of the Philippines.

Gen. Gaudencio Tobias, director of the rescue work, said, "it would be a miracle if we find any more persons alive under that debris. We do not expected to find any more people alive."

Among the bodies found yesterday was that of a newborn baby that doctors said apparently was born about the time the earthquake smashed the five-story apartment house. The child lay next to its mother among the concrete slabs, splintered wood and twisted steel.

Since the disaster, nearly 3,000 rescuers including American servicemen from U.S. bases in the Philippines have dug through the rubble of the apartment house 24 hours a day.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos said yesterday there appeared to have been "criminal negligence" in construction of the Ruby Towers, Manila's first condominium apartment house.

The Manila Weather Bureau's Geophysical Department recorded 240 aftershocks following the main jolt of the earthquake on Friday.

Bartender Underground For 77 Days

SAN JOSE (UPI) — A bartender today claimed the world record of 77 days for staying six feet underground buried in a coffin.

Mark Shannon, 60, emerged Saturday from his underground confinement in a San Jose Backyard, where he stayed since May 18 with only a telephone, a small television set and a transistor radio for company.

He remained in a prone position in a seven-foot redwood box with a one-foot-square air and food passage his only direct link to the world above.

On July 18, he passed a record of 61 days underground set by an Englishman and on July 21 he became the undisputed titleholder when he passed a 64-day mark set only hours before by Mrs. Patricia Haverland of Charleston, W. Va., who entered her coffin one day before Shannon.

Shannon said he was glad he set the record simply because it gave him the satisfaction of knowing he accomplished something he set out to do. He even said he might do it again some time.

Five Injured As Auto Cartwheels

Five persons were injured, two critically, when a car cartwheeled across Highway 17 yesterday and hit another car head-on.

Steve Craig Moller, 18, and Susan Helen Ward, 18, both of San Leandro, were reported in critical condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said Moller's car went out of control at 2:10 p.m. a quarter of a mile west of the San Rafael-Richmond bridge, veered into the center divider, overturned and hit an oncoming car driven by Dearl Sudbury, 31, of Santa Clara.

Moller and Miss Ward were thrown from their car. Moller suffered a head injury, a broken left leg and broken right arm. Miss Ward suffered a possible spine injury, a broken right leg and broken left arm.

Three members of Sudbury's family were injured. His wife Barbara, 27, was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Santa Clara with a broken vetebra. Their twin children, Vicky D. and Dearl Jr., 2 years old, were treated for cuts and bruises at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Terra Linda.

Cleaver Gets Peace Party Endorsement

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver received 60 per cent of the votes of California's Peace and Freedom party members who caucused here and in San Francisco during the weekend.

About 30 per cent of the votes went to Negro leader Dick Gregory with the remainder going to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and uncommitted delegates.

The slate of 70 delegates reflecting the votes of the caucuses will represent the Northern and Southern California branches of the party at the national convention Aug. 17 in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Cleaver is minister of information for the Black Panthers and author of "Soul on Ice." Gregory quit show business to work for civil rights.

Both candidates spoke to the caucuses, appearing in San Francisco Saturday morning and in Los Angeles Saturday afternoon.

Gregory said he would be disappointed if the "party splits" and would work for the organization regardless of whether he is the presidential nominee.

Cleaver said the nation's youth has the power to change the two party system and predicted independent registrations would outnumber those of Democrats and Republicans in the next four years.

Two Delegates Lists Seek Wallace Filing

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Eighty persons have been chosen to appear on California's Nov. 5 general election ballot as electors for George Wallace's third-party presidential movement. But, there's room for only 40 names.

Assistant Secretary of State Bert Clinkston says the names of the electors chosen by the "real" convention of the American Independent party — the convention with the majority of recognized delegates — will be placed on the ballot.

But the leader of the other convention, William K. Shearer, says he'll go to court to have his list recognized as the official Wallace slate.

Clinkston says Shearer has a right to take legal action, but he said Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan is bound by law to recognize the convention which had the majority of the elected delegates, who were the 60 or so party candidates who qualified at the June 4 primary for November races on the legislative and congressional levels.

Both Shearer and James Slaughter, chairman of the "official" convention, arranged to deliver to Jordan's office today their lists of electoral candidates.

Wallace played down the apparent party split Saturday at a news conference after both conventions had chosen him as their presidential nominee and thus put his name on the ballot.

He said party squabbles are not unusual, even for a new party such as his. And he said the campaign between Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for the Democratic presidential nomination is "the biggest party fight in the history of the Democratic party."

Two Pistols Stolen In Corte Madera

Two pistols valued at $150 total were stolen in a burglary of the home of William H. Wilkinson, 2 Harbor Drive, Corte Madera police reported today.

Wilkinson said yesterday entry sometime during the past several days was apparently via an open front door. The weapons were removed from a locked cabinet, but no forced entry was evident, officers said.

Youth Shot Twice In Club Quarrel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police say an argument led to shooting early today that put 17-year-old Alfred Crocker in Mission Emergency Hospital with two bullet wounds in the back.

Crocker, police said, had a quarrel with a doorman at a night club near Divisidero and Hayes Streets and was fleeing the scene when shot.

Arrested on assault charges was Ivery Smith, 51. Both men are San Francisco residents.

Hunters Point Pool Is Open

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The new Bayview - Hunters Point swimming pool got a good splashing yesterday.

Youngsters flocked to the Martin Luther King Memorial Pool, officially dedicated the previous day in ceremonies presided over by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

The $125,000 pool was built from private contributions, including some from Hollywood movie firms, at the urging of the mayor. No public funds were used for the 40-by-70 pool, located in a predominantly Negro area.

Brennan Hearing Within Fortnight

The question of whether Garnet E. Brennan should be allowed to teach in the Nicasio School District after admitting 18 years of smoking marijuana may be heard in Marin Superior Court this week or next.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson today notified attorneys for Mrs. Brennan and the school district that the case will be heard on a standby basis, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday this week or Tuesday and Wednesday next week.

Scheduled for hearing is Mrs. Brennan's request that the district be ordered to rehire her and the district's request that the court find its charge that the teacher's admission of 18-years of pot smoking is contrary to state law, constitutes immoral conduct and is true.

Two Men Rob Marin Motel At Gunpoint

The sheriff's office today is on the lookout for two men who forced their way into a northern Marin motel at gunpoint early Saturday and got away with $925, leaving the nightclerk bound and gagged in the main office.

John C. Mobley, a nightclerk at The Lodge, located three miles north of Novato on Highway 101, told deputies he was summoned to the office at 4:45 a.m. by two men who flashed revolvers and forced him to lie face down on the floor after he unlocked the door.

Mobley said the men rummaged through the cash drawer and the file cabinet, scooping all money into a briefcase. The two then told him to go upstairs, he said, and threatened to shoot whenever he tried to see their faces. He told the deputies the men wore false mustaches and wigs.

Mobley was discovered shortly after 6 a.m. by a friend.

Kettenhofen Criticizes Newsletter

Supervisor Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen today criticized the purpose of community action newsletters distributed by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

"It certainly seems to me that the main thrust of such a newsletter should be of an educational and informational nature to better assist the people in job training and employment," Kettenhofen said.

July's 12-page issue of the newsletter includes a story on the court appearance of James Earl Ray, accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King; an account of the life of W.E.B. DuBois, poetry and EOC news.

"I question the propriety of using this type of public funds for the purpose of political science and political-sociological action," Kettenhofen said.

Victor H. Cary, EOC executive director, said today he welcomed suggestions to change the paper's format.

Pair Plead Innocent

Mark Emerson Vincent and his wife, Michael Elizabeth Vincent, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to charges that they had 46 illegal marijuana plants at their Fairfax house March 27. Jury trial was scheduled for the week of Dec. 22 for the couple.

Santa Venetia Man Shot On Motorcycle

A 51-year-old Santa Venetia man was listed in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a gunshot wound in the back, incurred when a stray bullet struck him Saturday.

Oliver C. Lowe, of 243 North San Pedro Road, told sheriff's deputies he left his home by motorcyle for a pack of cigarettes shortly after 6:30 p.m., but had traveled only a few hundred feet northwest on San Pedro Road when he felt a sharp sting in his lower back.

He said he returned home immediately when he noticed blood. He was rushed by auto to the hosptital where a 22-caliber slug was removed from his lower left back, deputies said.

Deputies theorize the shot came from Peacock Gap property above San Pedro Road. Witnesses in the area said two juveniles and one adult had been shooting 22-caliber rifles near that location late in the afternoon, the report said.

Lowe was to be released from the hospital sometime today.

Measure On Open Records Goes To Reagan's Desk

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to guarantee public access to public records won final legislative approval Saturday in the Assembly and went to the governor's desk for signature into law.

The bill (AB 1381), by Assemman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, followed a study by a committee headed by Bagley of statutes relating to what is and what is not a public record. Bagley termed the bill an important step in the progress of the public's "right to know."

The bill is equivalent in important to all the open meeting laws, including the Ralph M. Brown Act, governing closed meetings, Bagley said.

So much of the public's business today is conducted by administrators within public agencies, Bagley said, "so attendance at public meetings alone no longer insures an informed body politic."

Current laws granting the public's right to inspect and copy public records were written in 1877, he noted, and too often fail to guarantee that right.

His bill applies to all levels of government in the state, and declares that "access to information concerning the conduct of the people's business is a fundamental and necessary right of every citizen in this state."

The bill exempts from disclosure records involved in litigation, personnel and medical files which would invade an individual's personal privacy, trade secrets of businesses and oil and mineral data, examination data, real estate appraisals, and complaints and investigatory material in the hands of correctional, licensing and law enforcement agencies.

The bill, co-authored by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, was drawn up by the Assembly Advisory Committee on Public Records. The committee was set up by the judiciary committee, chaired by Bagley.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was a member of the committee, which included representatives of the State Bar, press and state and local government.

Kennedy Worker Favors McCarthy

The former co-chairman of the Kennedy campaign in Marin, now an alterante delegate to the Democratic National Convention, today said he will favor the candidacy of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

William M. Taylor of San Anselmo, who said he has been selected by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh as an alternate from the Sixth Congressional District, also served as Northern California chairman of the Citizens for Kennedy.

Taylor said he will "go along" with Unruh's request that the delegation remain uncommitted, but said he also would promote support for McCarthy among the California delegates.

Taylor's selection by Unruh makes him the only delegate representing Marin when the convention opens Aug. 26 in Chicago.

A mutual fund broker, Taylor lives at 185 The Alameda.

Environment Quality Bill Approved

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to set up a temporary study of how to protect the state's natural resources won final legislative approval Saturday in the Assembly and was sent to the governor for his signature.

The bill (AB 353), by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, would establish a State Environmental Quality Council. It will plan "a comprehensive long-range attack against pollution and those forces working against the state's natural environments," he said.

California will produce about 2.3 billion tons of solid waste in the next 35 years, enough to cover a 1,500-square-mile area 10 feet deep, noted Mulford, adding "this problem must be solved within the immediate future."

The bill appropriates $25,000 to the council, which will consist of the secretaries of the resources and business and transportation agencies, the chairmen of the State Water Resources Control Board and State Air Resources Board, seven members to be appointed by the governor, and four by the Assembly speaker and the State Rules Committee.

BCDC Extension Signed Into Law

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to plug a major loophole in the law that created the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission has been signed into law by the governor.

The bill (SB 231), by Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, was fought by fill interests, but passed both houses last month after a long battle.

The loophole was that the commission's control over bay fill would have expired next January when it makes its final report to the legislature. The bill extended the commission's control until 90 days after the final adjournment of the 1969 Legislature, thus allowing time to enact new fill controls if the lawmakers wish.

Why the average car thief looks so young.

Ever seen a typical car thief?
For openers, he looks scared. And he looks like a kid...because most cars are stolen by kids under 18.

Our teen-agers. Every day, they steal 1,000 cars. Because we—you and I—make it easy for them.

We leave the keys in the car. Because we're too busy to take them with us. And maybe—just maybe—because we can't remember what a temptation it is to drive a car when you're a kid.

Do yourself a favor.
Do the nation a favor.

Barge Sinks Boat, But Four Rescued

A 30-foot sailboat moored to the northwest bank of the Petaluma River near Black John Slough was run down by a southbound oil barge and tugboat early yesterday, and the four persons sleeping aboard were thrown from the boat as it sank, the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol reported.

The owner of the fiberglass sloop Ventura, William J. Edinger Jr., 47, of 30 Porto Bello Drive, San Rafael, his wife, Eloise, and a woman passenger, Mrs. Ruland Hardy of Sacramento, were treated at Marin General Hospital for minor bruises. Hardy, 49, was treated for shock and exposure.

The four spent about 15 minutes in the cold water after the accident happened just before 2 a.m.

Richard Weiss, the captain of the tug Napa River, owned by the Harbor Tug and Barge Co. of San Francisco, and crewman Steve Van Cleve were commended by Edinger for "an excellent job of rescue."

Edinger, a salesman for an Oakland metal products firm, said Weiss located them in the water with a searchlight and hauled them aboard.

The Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol boat Polly II, piloted by John Sarin and crewed by Joe Thomas, both of Bel Marin Keys, met the tug near the accident scene and transferred the victims to a waiting ambulance at the Black Point launching ramp.

Edinger said he has made arrangements with a salvage firm to try to recover the sloop.

Both Edinger and a spokesman for the barge company declined to comment on how the accident happened. The spokesman, Stephen M. Wilson, insurance manager, said the accident was under investigation.

Massamba-Debat said in a broadcast that the constitution was void.

Republican Platform Aims At War, Crime, Social Ills

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republican plank-writers will hand to the national convention tomorrow a platform pledging peace negotiations without surrender in Vietnam and drives against crime and social ills at home.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the platform committee which wound up work early yesterday with a compromise plank on Vietnam, indicated he expects no floor battle when the party document goes before the full convention for final approval.

Dirksen said he anticipates no dissenting report from his 102-man committee and added the Vietnam proviso "will come as close to satisfying any candidate we may nominate as anything we might reduce to writing."

A spokesman for Richard M. Nixon, the frontrunner for the nomination, praised the 13,000-word policy declaration as a forthright document embracing "principle and a program of action which hold the promise of restoring to America effective and responsible leadership."

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller hailed it as a platform "we can win on and I want to run on." California's favorite son candidate, Gov. Ronald Reagan, had no immediate comment.

The 33-page manifesto combined promises for crusades against violence with a wide range of social betterment planks which pleased avowed liberals on domestic affairs.

It carried no price tag for its proposed programs, nor did it call for major tax changes at this time.

It was the Vietnam proviso which remained in dispute right up to the final minutes of the platform group's 18-hour secret session which started Saturday and ran to 3:15 a.m. yesterday.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, a Rockefeller supporter, and others objected to what they termed a Reagan hard-line on Vietnam in the officially proposed draft language. Its wording held any negotiated settlement "unacceptable" unless the agreement guaranteed the Vietnamese full self- determination.

After behind-the-scenes leadership huddles, Dirksen agreed to revised wording turned in by Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen of New Jersey. The tired platform writers chorused their approval.

Thus the national convention will vote tomorrow night in this commitment:

"We pledge a program for peace in Vietnam—neither peace at any price nor a camouflaged surrender of legitimate U.S. or allied interests—but a positive program that will offer a fair and equitable settlement to all, based on the principle of self- determination, our national interests and the cause of long-range world peace.

"We will sincerely and vigorously pursue peace negotiations as long as they offer any reasonable prospect for a just peace. We pledge to develop a clear and purposeful negotiating position."

The GOP statement accuses the Democratic administration of "breach of faith with the American people respecting our heavy involvement in Vietnam" and says every citizen bitterly recalls this campaign oratory from President Johnson in 1964:

"We are not about to send American boys 9,000-10,000 miles away from home to do what Asian boys ought to be doing for themselves."

The Republican document contends the administration fails to recognize the true issue in Vietnam "is not control of territory but the security and loyalty of the population."

It says the Democrats' "piecemeal commitment of men and material has wasted our massive military superiority "while South Vietnamese forces who should be carrying more of the burden have not been trained and equipped fast enough.

The Republicans promise a strategy permitting a progressive de-Americanization of the war, both military and civilian," by concentrating on security for the population in Vietnam, building the country politically and strengthening local forces.

The platform presents the Republicans as the party to resolve the Vietnam dilemma on grounds it offers new leadership "not hostage to the many mistakes of the past."

The preamble pictures the United States in turmoil because of the war, disintegration of American society, slums, poverty and inflation.

"America urgently needs new leadership," it says. "We offer that leadership."

The GOP plank on crime declares "we will not tolerate violence" and "we must re-establish the principle that men are accountable for what they do."

It sets forth a 13-point "all-out, federal-state-local crusade against crime" ranging from a nationwide campaign against narcotics trafficking to tighter protection against racketeers infiltrating into legitimate business.

At the same time the Republican statement proposes a "relentless attack"—with an increasing role for private enterprise—on social conditions breeding criminals.

"We pledge a vigorous effort, nationwide, to transform the blighted areas of cities into centers of opportunity and progress, culture and talent," it says.

The platform calls for more self-respect and incentive in welfare programs, tax credits to businesses hiring disadvantaged citizens, loans for persons in decayed areas so they can own homes and businesses, expansion of pre-school programs for disadvantaged children and unification of the various separate food distribution programs.

The cost of inflation to citizens and "economic mismanagement of the highest order" by the Democratic administration is a central theme running through the Republican document.

It says sound economic policy would check an inflation that is robbing people's paychecks, sending interest rates soaring and plunging the United States into a balance of payments crisis internationally.

In the national security area, the Republicans accuse the administration of having frittered away military superiority over the Soviets under "inexpert, cost-oriented administrators"—an apparent reference to the regime of former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Lawmakers Pass Drycleaning Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend the licensing jurisdiction of the State Board of Dry Cleaners to coin-operated drycleaning plants, a bill long sought by a Marin operator of such a plant, won final legislative approval Saturday and went to the governor.

The bill (AB 895), by Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, is to eliminate a long-standing dispute over whether the present law gives the board authority over the coin-operated plants.

The Marin operator, Richard G. Gable, owner of Miracle Norge Village in San Rafael, is executive secretary of the Associated Coin-Operated Dry Cleaners of Northern California.

Wrist Recorders Seen By 2000

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — In the year 2000, people will be wearing wrist watches that are "total communications centers," containing devices not only for accurate timing but also for voice and vision.

They'll even contain recorders and simple miniature computers, said Harry B. Aronson, president of the Waltham Watch Co., in Elgin to dedicate the firm's new facility.

He said increasing skills in miniaturizing devices will increase Elgin's importance as one of the major watch producing centers of the world.

Nude, Hatchet-Swinging Suspect Subdued At Home

Sheriff's deputies Saturday night arrested a nude, 23-year-old man on narcotics and assault violations after a wild hatchet-swinging melee on a houseboat at Kappas Yacht Harbor on Richardson Bay near Waldo Point.

George Greengard of Gate 6, north of Sausalito, was booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana and another narcotic, battery and assault with a deadly weapon following a brief struggle with deputies that began with an alleged attack on a neighbor.

Don Wilcox told deputies he felt something strike his houseboat on Pier B shortly after 10 p.m. He said he went outside to find a man standing in the nude. The man, later identified as Greengard, living on a houseboat next door, reportedly struck Wilcox in the chest with the blunt end of a hatchet.

Three sheriff's deputies, responding to a call from Wilcox, were greeted at Greengard's door by the same nude man who said, "Welcome to God's house," and swung his hatchet at one of the deputies, narrowly missing his head, the report said.

After a brief struggle, Greengard was subdued, but not before he had knocked another deputy to the floor with his fist.

A search of Greengard's houseboat yielded quantities of a substance believed to be marijuana and a plastic bag containing a brown powdery substance, deputies said. The hatchet and a high-caliber rifle was also confiscated.

Greengard, who first listed his name as Russ Gold, was being held today in County Jail on $5,000 bail.

Suspect Nabbed At Gas Station

Terry B. Samuels, 29, of 18 Eureka Street, Marin City, was arrested by Sausalito police Saturday afternoon on suspicion of credit card forgery, possession of narcotics, possession of a weapon and display of incorrect license plates.

Police were called to the Sausalito Shell station at 900 Bridgeway when the attendant found the credit card Samuels presented to be on a stolen card list.

Police said they observed Samuels dispose of small cellophane packets containing a white powder and, upon a routine search of the car, found a billy club under the front seat and license plates in the truck.

Samuels was released from Marin County jail on $3,125 bail and is scheduled to appear in municipal court tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

Australians Try Plan To Boost Lamb Birth Rate

SYDNEY (AP) — Australian ewes might produce four lambs a year instead of one if experiments at Melbourne and Sydney universities are fruitful.

A ewe produces a lamb in just under five months and, at present, spends five months feeding it, has two months on pasture, and then the breeding cycle is repeated.

In the Australian experiments for a higher birthrate, the lambs are taken from their mothers at one day old, and hormones are given to ewes in the hope they will produce twins every time.

Professor Derek Tribe, of the Commonwealth Bureau of Agricultural Economics, said that in the experiments lambs taken from their mothers were given a liquid diet based on whole milk powder for three weeks, then fed solid food. The results, he said, were promising, and the mortality rate low.

Posh Conferences Fading In India

NEW DELHI (AP) — That coming events cast their shadows in advance was illustrated here recently.

India's former rulers, the princes and maharajas, have held three news conferences since the government announced last year that it would abolish their privy purses.

The first conference was held in a posh hotel and drinks were served. The second in the drawing room of a maharaja and tea and snacks were served.

The third was held on a badly kept lawn, and soft drinks were served.

Founder Defends Military Union

BY THERON A. NEWELL

An intelligent and personable young second lieutenant at Hamilton Air Force Base Friday defended his starting a union within the armed forces and his planned peace march from the Presidio of San Francisco to San Francisco City Hall on Sept. 21.

Hugh F. Smith of the 349th Military Airlift Wing at Hamilton said, "I want to show the people that there are peaceful, decent, but dissentient men in the armed forces." The march will begin from the Presidio at 10 a.m.

The 26-year-old officer said he could legally demonstrate so long as it was not a detriment to the service.

"The military itself does not look kindly at those in uniform participating in such demonstrations," he said, so he is asking those servicemen who are afraid to wear their uniforms to wear civilian clothes in the march.

"I have not been asked to stop," he said, commenting on the official view of his actions.

"I am doing it on my own time and not in the name of the Air Force," he said, speaking of his organizing a union of GIs and officers, as well as staging a peace march. He does not think that the Air Force will take retaliatory measures against him.

Officials at the 349th Military Airlift Wing, which is under the military airlift command and a tenant unit at Hamilton, said that the Pentagon has been advised of his activities. It has not placed any restriction on his freedom of speech, but requested that in the future he be interviewed in his off-duty hours, rather than on Air Force time, according to base officials.

Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the Fourth Air Force at Hamilton, would not comment on the lieutenant's activities, according to base officials.

Lieutenant Smith, who was a philosophy student at Stanford at the time of his recall to active duty last January, said that his purpose in organizing a servicemen's union was to show that "the GIs are humans working both as civilians and military at the same time."

"Some enlisted men and officers in the armed forces desperately realize the course the nation is taking and want to do something about it as members of the armed forces," he said.

"We feel we owe it to humanity," said the young man who has been a Fulbright scholar in Germany, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

"I have been in civil rights movement for 10 years," he said. He spoke proudly of working with the Black Panthers and in freedom marches in Mississippi. He also helped Communists out of East Berlin while studying in Germany, he said.

The cause of peace is greater than purely nationalist causes, the lieutenant said.

"I will give them (the Air Force) the best job I can while on duty from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.," he said. After hours when he is not on duty, he said, he intends to do all he can to "get the GIs organized working in the cause for peace." He claims a membership of 100 servicemen at Hamilton and other bases.

As Smith was being interviewed yesterday by newspaper, radio and television reporters, some of the enlisted men watched the proceedings.

"Go ahead Smith, we're with you all the way," some of them called to him.

Youth Power Studies Police-Youth Status

Youth Power, a new organization of Marin County residents between 15 and 25 set out Saturday to ascertain the relationship between Marin youth and local law enforcement agencies.

Meeting at the Civic Center, about 25 young people voted to establish two committees, one to investigate police-community relations and another to arrange for one or two informal gathering places for the county's youth.

The group also voted to select candidates next Saturday for approval by the board of supervisors as members of four county advisory commissions: the juvenile delinquency prevention commission, parks and recreation commission, aid for dependent children task force and human rights commission.

A member of the Kennedy Action Corps suggested that the two groups should consider affiliating, reported Youth Power coordinator Peter H. Behr Jr., but the new group decided to remain independent while holding out the possibility of allying with other such groups on particular issues.

The meeting Saturday will again be at 10 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers.

Navy Lt. Charles J. Thomas, 37, native of Marin County and son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Thomas of 19 Shell Road, Mill Valley, has retired from the Navy after 20 years of active service in ceremonies at the Concord Naval Weapons Station.

Thomas, a veteran of the Chosin evacuation in the Korean War who served at various times on aircraft carriers Shangri La, Yorktown, Philippine Sea, Bon Homme Richard and Valley Forge, left with his wife and two daughters for Talent, Ore., after the retirement ceremonies.

He plans to enter Southern Oregon University this fall to earn a teaching credential.

Novato Ambulance Problem Report Due Supervisors

A report on the tangled ambulance situation in Marin will be heard tomorrow when the board of supervisors meets at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center.

The emergency medical care committee, which includes Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and William A. Gnoss, will offer recommendations that bids be sought for a two-zone system of ambulance coverage, and for a resolution to govern interim emergency service in the Novato area, where emergency service has been halted by the Novato Ambulance Co.

The board also will take up a request by Supervisor Thomas T. Storer to oppose Army plans for an antimissile site in Southern Marin. The Army has proposed Angel Island or Wolfback Ridge above Sausalito as possible sites.

In the afternoon session, the supervisors will discuss a revised capital improvements program, and resume discussion of development of Deer Park in Fairfax.

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Paul E. Hoffman's 14-month-old male cat, Joker, is a cat burglar.

He tours the neighborhood and picks up things—mostly clothing.

"I put everything he had stolen into a basket and made the rounds of the neighbors. I found owners for everything except the size 32 men's shorts."

Verdict Reversed By Andrew J. Eyman

The San Francisco Superior Court judge who reversed the state Board of Medical Examiners' ruling against Dr. John Paul Shively on Friday was Andrew J. Eyman, not Mathew F. Eyman as reported in Saturday's Independent-Jounral.

Shively, the first of nine physicians, including two from Marin, charged with performing illegal therapeutic abortions, had been given a 90-day license suspension and a public reprimand.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — City officials are studying plans for a $7.2 million, 200-room floating motel to be moored on the St. Louis riverfront.

The motel would be of steel, glass and plastic, said Charles F. Cherry, head of the firm that developed the plans. The stucture would extend over 420 feet with seven modules containing motel, convention and meeting rooms and specialty shops.

The modules would be five stories high, 60 feet wide and 60 feet deep.

A layer of foam material eight feet thick would support the motel. Cherry said it would be fireproof and unsinkable.

'Someday I'll Be A Prima Ballerina'

By GRACE HENDERSON

One child, but busy enough for two, is an apt description of Johanna Elizabeth Baer, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Baer of Marinwood. She is the couple's only child.

With her goal set on being a prima ballerina one day, Johanna devotes her thoughts in that direction. Most recently she was chosen to perform with the Bolshoi Ballet at the San Francisco Opera House. The youngest in the company, she was selected to dance the role of the lead child.

The green-eyed brownette has studied dance the past year and a half from Meriam Lanova in San Francisco, following the Baer family move from Phoenix, Ariz., in October of 1966. Mr. Baer is general director of the American Conservatory Theater Foundation (ACT) in San Francisco. And as his daughter said, "He knows a lot about ballet."

Johanna departed Friday on a tour that will have her on the road for three weeks. She is part of the 45-member company, Ballet Celeste, of San Francisco and will appear as Red Riding Hood in the production of "Sleeping Beauty."

Again Johanna is the youngest of the troupe. Her friend and helper, Kim Graves, 13, of San Francisco is assisting with traveling on the bus, but Johanna is required to launder her own stockings each evening and care for her clothing.

To prepare for stage appearances, the Marinwood youngster has begun practicing the art of theater makeup. She told of her first attempt beginning with grease paint and on through the eye makeup. Johanna stands 3 feet 11 inches tall and was born Dec. 4, 1961.

Rounding out her career in theater and related projects, she has worked as a model for a documentary film, industrial films, television commercials and commercial photography. All of this, accompanied by her school work, swimming lessons, voice instruction and French lessons keeps the Marin miss busy, but she still retains time for playing with her friends in the neighborhood.

As for boys. She answered with a resounding "No" when asked if she likes them. However, a few minutes later she was pointing out the house where her friend lives. When he didn't wave as she rode past, she explained, "Oh well, he probably would have been embarrassed with all those other boys around," a typical six-year-old girl's comment.

What amusing experiences has she had in being filmed for commercial television? Most of them were pretty serious to Johanna, but she did describe one that was unusual, although it really didn't amuse her.

While posing for a cupcake advertisement being filmed in Golden Gate Park recently, a group of hippies was attracted by the food and action. They gathered around, asking for cupcakes. When told they could have the boxes of goodies when the film was completed, they became impatient and began eating the cakes, including discarded ones.

Some parts of Johanna's life must be regulated if she is to attain her dream of being among the best on the ballet stage. Her two quarts of milk per day have been cut down to prevent a protruding stomach. However, she may still enjoy pizzas, her favorite dish. She must also wear shoes at all times to protect her feet.

Mornings, recently, have been taken up with swimming lessons and the 50-pound youngster passed the intermediate swimmer's test last week. Two other sports are in the future: skiing and ice skating. She has never tried either, but is looking forward to learning.

Her favorite subject in school was French at San Domenico School for Girls until this summer when she enrolled at the 3R School for some advanced study. While there she became acquainted with math, earning a straight A record on the third grade level. This was accomplished with most of her studying being done in the family auto to and from rehearsals in San Francisco.

As for pets, Johanna has three cats. What kind are they? "They are black and white with some orange," she explained. She says they will miss her and will be glad to see her when she comes home from the tour.

In concluding the interview we mentioned we would attend someday when she performs locally. Her polite answer, reflecting her regard for her instructor, included the information that, "My teacher will be there, too."

And we know she will for Johanna Baer has the dedication for a great future on the stage which she prefers over modeling or acting.

JOHANNA BAER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Baer of Marinwood, has launched a career on the ballet stage with a performance last month as the lead child in the Bolshoi Ballet at the San Francisco Opera House. She is currently on tour with Ballet Celeste appearing in Northern California, Western Oregon and cities in Washington. Her role is of Red Riding Hood in "Sleeping Beauty".

If You're Not Looking For Luxury, Try A Family Camp

By JOAN LISETOR

Camp Mather is a family camp 30 miles west of Yosemite on the rim of the Tuolumne River gorge, above the great Hetch Hetchy Valley. It is operated by the San Francisco Recreation and Parks Department.

A four-hour drive from Marin County, it offers an ideal vacation to economy and fun-minded families. There are activities from morning to evening to entertain everyone in the family, from the smallest child to grandma and grandpa.

Living facilities are far from luxurious with rustic cabins varying in size depending on the family. The cabins have no running water, but bath houses are nearby.

Meals are served cafeteria style in a large dining room. The food is mediocre to terrible, but then no one comes to Camp Mather for gourmet meals.

Many families return to Camp Mather year-after-year. An example of this is the Anthony Barbera family of San Anselmo. Although this is only the second year the Barberas have vacationed there, Pat Barbera spent several summer vacations there as a child.

The Barberas have four children: Tony, 17, Michael, 14, Bruce, 11, and Sherri, 10. The children all enjoyed vacationing at Camp Mather very much and look forward to returning.

Activities are planned by recreation directors, who organize ping-pong, horseshoe, volleyball, badminton and softball tournaments for adults. There is a daily "splash time" for children, where the non-swimmers learn to swim and the swimmers improve their skills. Children are also treated to nature classes, group games, story-telling times and parties. Between activities they enjoy the play area with swings, slides and a sandbox.

Swimming and sunbathing facilities are very good. A large lawn area surrounds Birch Lake, which is excellent for swimming. The lake forms a lagoon ideal for splashing toddlers. There is also a shallow swimming pool for not-so-experienced swimmers or just cooling off.

Everyone enjoys the evenings at Camp Mather sitting around the campfire singing, toasting marshmallows or watching shows put on by the camp personnel or guests. There are also bingo and game nights every week.

For those who enjoy horseback riding there are well trained horses accustomed to mountain trails. A corral concession, which has been run by Joe Barnes for 35 years, provides horses for hire by the hour or day. Instruction is available as are special rides such as breakfast rides, sundown rides and pack trips.

Fishermen have a choice of the Tuolumne River, South and Middle Forks of the Tuolumne, Cottonwood Creek or the shores of Hetch Hetchy Lake, all near Camp Mather. Most return with five or even ten fish, and the camp cooks delight in preparing them for your dinner.

There are numerous mountain trails for long or short hikes into the primitive mountain country surrounding the camp. If one prefers an auto trip, Hetch Hetchy reservoir and O'Shaughnessy Dam are just 20 minutes away. Yosemite Valley and Cherry Valley Dam are 30 miles away and take about an hour to reach. A one day trip over some of the most scenic roads in the Sierra Nevada takes one to May Lake, Teneya Lake, Tuolumne Meadows and Tioga Pass.

How do children like Camp Mather? One little four-year-old boy, whose family car was packed and ready to go home, clung to a tree and with tears in his eyes pleaded, "Please, please let me stay."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Is It 'Metal' Or 'Mettle' Reader Asks In Letter To Helen

DEAR HELEN BOTTEL:

In a recent column you suggested that a woman "prove her metal." The word is "Mettle," Mrs. "Bottle."

— THE MIDNIGHT SPELLER

DEAR SPELLER:

Touche! No "rebuttle" my fine "suttle" friend.

The proofreader in charge of my unique spelling must have been out to lunch — and I hope he is again when this copy comes through. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our neighbor next door is hooked on his new sit-down lawn mower. He's out there tootling around on it five times a week, always when I would rather sleep.

Now we all know — except him — that lawns don't grow as fast as whiskers and once over lightly on Saturday mid-morning is enough. What does it take to get this across?

— NO MOW JOE

DEAR JOE:

Probably not more than a month. Once the newness wears off his toy, your neighbor will join the rest of you reluctant weekend gardeners. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

A boy our daughter met in college wrote and asked her to a party to be given by him, and to stay at his home over the weekend. He says the parents will chaperone, and she assures me he is trust-worthy. Both young people are under 19 and living at home.

I insisted that the mother of the boy be called to see if it was indeed satisfactory for the visit, thus having a chance to say hello to the folks and discreetly get a little information about the party. They live about 300 miles away from us and we have never met.

My wife and daughter jeered at me and finally compromised by calling the boy himself. He said it was all right!

Am I out of step?

— PUZZLED

DEAR PUZ:

You're marching in my league.

Seems to me the parents of the boy are out of step. They should have sent a personal invitation to your daughter, perhaps followed up by a telephone call to her mother. How else will you know she is welcome, or — excuse my suspicious nature — even that there are parents? —H.

P.S. For the sophisticates who argue, "At 18, a girl can do as she pleases, and usually does," I say, Not until she leaves home and becomes self-supporting. —H.

Deep Colors For Summer

NEW YORK (UI)—Blanket covers serve to supply decorative interest as well as protection for summer bed coverings.

Decorators report washable fabrics in deep tones are taking the lead over pastels for fashion interest. These rich colors should be washed alone for the first few times to make sure that the bleeding of excess dye has been controlled.

Cooling Hints Given For Homes

To assure the best cooling from any air conditioning unit, it must be installed correctly. Window-mounted units require a good, tight seal between the cabinet and the window frame to keep out hot air and increase cooling efficiency. Since free circulation of air is essential, filters should be cleaned periodically to take out air-borne pollen, dust and particles that clog their cells. Avoid blocking free flow of air with furniture, lest the furniture is cooled at the expense of the atmosphere of the room.

If Your Feet Are 'Killing You,' Remember The Duties They Perform

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — How many times have you heard it said, or said it yourself, "My feet are killing me!"

Actually bad feet aren't responsible for fatalities, but they can produce a myriad of disorders — backache, headache, fatigue, poor posture, irritability and a grouchy disposition.

NO WONDER. Consider that if you're a woman around the house, in one day just doing household chores you walk roughly 10 miles and give your feet 1,500 tons of jolts.

Similarly, if you are an average male with an average job, your feet carry you seven and one-half miles a day and take a pounding of more than 1,000 tons daily.

In a lifetime, Today's Health, a publication of the American Medical Association, AMA, estimates that the average American walks about 65,000 miles, or enough distance to take him back and forth across the USA 26 times.

THESE ARE the walking and pressure overworkings. But there are other ways we abuse the peds. Scientists say each day we also fill our shoes with almost one-half pint of perspiration with its acid content.

There are thousand of "trauma" contacts daily-rubbing, scuffing, scraping and kicks. We expose our feet to the elements — rain and snow, heat and cold.

And there is the daily inside friction that builds up heat inside the shoes. Flexing alone, a bending action across the vamp, averages well over 100,000 times a month.

This part of the body which bears up under so much—or breaks down—is called by Today's Health "a structural masterpiece unexcelled in design and durability." Hard as it is to believe, more than one-fourth of all the bones in the body are in the feet.

EACH FOOT contains 26 bones intricately linked through 33 joints and lashed together with ligaments. The biggest bone, one of seven tarsals, is the heel.

The heel sits solidly on the ground with the other six dovetailed tarsals arching in front of it. These tarsals meet with five long metatarsals whose heads form the ball of the foot. The heel and the metatarsal heads are the weight bearers, the five toes are the launching pads.

When you realize the intricacy of this mechanism, it is no surprise then to hear experts such as Dr. Benjamin F. Miller observe that ". . . feet cause a big percentage of avoidable man and woman hours of suffering in the world."

SUCH SUFFERING is costly. Business Week almost two decades ago was estimating that U.S. industry lost $100 million a year in man hours because of foot ails.

Keep Cool Longer

You can keep your "cool" longer this summer if you keep heat out of your conversations, say psychologists. Other than talking about the weather here are pointers for the heat weary:

1. Take on fewer calories.
2. Drink plenty of fluids.
3. Be sure to get enough sleep.
4. Air conditioners are a help.
5. Drink alcohol in moderation only.
6. Watch the urge to over-exercise.
7. Cut down on kitchen heat.
8. Don't worry about color of clothing.
9. Let the children stay up later than usual.
10. Avoid hot or cold showers.

And Think Cool.

DRAMA REVIEW

Bard's Comedy Done At Hilarious Pitch

By GWEN STONE

Scholars write that "The Comedy of Errors," perhaps Shakespeare's first comedy, was called "The Night of Errors" when it was originally performed during the Christmas festivities in London for noblemen of the court.

Not so Friday night, for the opening performance of "The Comedy of Errors" resented by the Marin Shakespeare Festival Company, was an hilariously amusing hit.

Shakespeare's wacky play is set on that eventful day when without realizing it, two sets of twins get into the kookiest mishmash of mistaken identities one could ever imagine.

The entire cast of this farfetched, highspirited comedy deserves much praise for the beautiful ensemble work. The comic exploitation of the members of the company was a visible feast of acting. There was something going every moment.

Dan Caldwell, who directed this production blended the farcical situations in true Shakespearean style. The unique quality of his direction shows he knows when to lay on the slapstick and the outrageous romp, and precisely how long to sustain it.

The two Antipholuses (Robert Feero) and the two Dromios (Paul Willis), were delightful characterizations. Both actors showed extraordinary vitality. They displayed a beautiful balance of comedy timing, and gave the effect of enjoying every moment they were on stage. It would be fun to see them cast in "Two Gentlemen From Verona," for a future Marin Festival production.

Substantial support was given by Hope Alexander as Adriana, wife of the one Antipholus, and Pat Boyette who played Luciana, her sister. Miss Alexander was delicious to see and her deft delivery plus the amusing mugging of Miss Boyette kept the comedy at a high level.

In fact, the play never lost a beat. From the lunatic behavior of Peter Sorenson, Charles Moll, Dean Webber, and Abe Kalish, the colorful courtesans, Sally Ann Page and Gail Ross, to the very witty Jo Ann Stathis, as Aphrodisia (a la Hermoine Gingold), it was one hearty laugh. To be able to pack all of this youthful vitality into two short hours is a miracle you'll have to see to believe.

Howard Davis, as Solinus, the duke, should be mentioned, also Phil Sheridan, who made the character of Aegeon, the daddy of the two Antipholuses, an excellent study. Carol McElheny as Amelia, the Abbess, showed a competent flair. Angelo, a goldsmith, was played in fine comic style by Robert Hirschfeld.

Costumes were delightfully Elizabethan in concept. This genial Shakespearean spook will be show alternating from now until September 28th with "Antony and Cleopatra," and "Macbeth," at Forest Meadows Theatre in San Rafael.

"VILLAIN" — Dale Moffitt, formerly with Festival Theater in San Anselmo and now head of a new porforming company, the Cameo Curtain Callers, will play the blackhearted villain in the group's first production, "The Diary of Goldstrike or Her Mother Was A Lady." The play opens at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the new Cameo Theater Lounger, 4120 El Camino, Palo Alto.

Sausalito Art Festival Plans Three-Day Run

Under the symbol of the Phoenix, the annual Sausalito Arts Festival will be held Aug. 31 through Sept. 2 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Bank of America parking lot on Bridgeway.

Exhibits this year include painting, sculpture, crafts, architecture, literature and photography, plus a special children's "Art in Action." Also slated are rock and folk bands, theater groups and poetry readings.

Artist Jean Varda designed the Phoenix symbol for the festival.

Ten prizes of $200 each will be awarded with the artists themselves as judges. The money has been donated by Sausalito merchants. Fair proceeds will go towards the establishment of a Sausalito Art Center, with a special $1,000 donation to be given to Marin City for its recreation center.

Parking and shuttle service will be available from Richardson Bay School.

Contrary to popular belief, the Declaration of Independence, adopted on July 4, 1776, was not signed that day. The original document was prepared and signed by John Hancock as President of the Congress on Aug. 2, 1776. Many signatures were added weeks later.

DANCE REVIEW

Philippine Group Flashy But Something Missing

By GARY TISCHLER

Watching and listening to the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company was a little like sitting out a good Cecil B. DeMille movie.

The company, presented as the second in a series of Marin Music Chest Concerts at the Forest Meadows Theater last Saturday, was, in some ways, very educational, very entertaining, and very spectacular.

The numbers are indeed spectacular, as the program presents something of a musical folk-ethnic survey of the Philippines' historical and racial backgrounds. It is done in five parts, beginning with a suite of dances from the mountain tribes of the Ifugaos, Kalingas and others, a crashing, booming opening spectacle.

Part two is a slower-paced music and dance introduction to the Philippines' Spanish influences, a quaintly charming reproduction of hacienda pleasures.

Part III covers the island of Mindanao and its Islamic influences, and is, visually and intellectually, the most exciting part of the show. It has something the other parts lack, a certain fire and aliveness, winding up with the key dancers skirting a series of clapping bamboo poles.

After the introduction of the Philippine consul-general, the program continued with the Philippines' Tagabili background and wound up with an evocation of a small town fiesta and the nation's rice culture.

The entire program it was explained by Consul-General S. T. Sabalones, was performed by college students, which he implied, should give hope to the future of the Philippines. And it should. They are bright, beautiful youngsters, with a talent for the dance who seem to have captured a little of their nation's history.

All this is well and good. You can be awed by the spectacle, which is spectacular and marvel at the multi-colored, rainbow-like costuming, which is indeed fantastic. But something is missing, as in the aforementiond Cecil B. DeMille movie. It does not grab you. It lacks fire and spark. It is not quite human or real. I felt that I had not learned anything about the Philippines that I could not have picked up in a travel company folder. I kept wishing for a break in the row of beautiful faces, a slight bit of genuine laughter in the proceedings.

In a way, it is like sending the singing Young Americans on a world-wide tour, implying that they are representative of what life in the United States is like and has been like, letting them dance square dances, the minuet, and the swing, letting them sing a few bars of "Dixie," "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "Shenandoah." It may indeed by impressive, but it is more like a fancied dream than real communication.

Still the Sunday-dressed Saturday afternoon audience that spilled over Forest Meadows seemd to enjoy itself. And that, after all, was its purpose.

Mime Troop Slates Mill Valley Matinees

The San Francisco Mime Troupe will perform in Mill Valley's Boyle Park Saturday and Sunday.

"The Face of Patelin" will be presented both days beginning at 2 p.m. The shows are free.

Hitchock Film, Comedy Slated

"The 39 Steps," the Hitchcock suspense film, will be shown Friday at an open house and benefit for the Sausalito Youth Center.

The event, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will take place in the old Star of the Sea Catholic Church building, Harrison Street and Bulkley Avenue.

Besides the main feature, which stars Robert Donat, a Laurel and Hardy short, "Busy Bodies," and a chapter from the "Perils of Pauline" entitled "Green Goddess" will be seen.

Funds from the benefit will finance future operations of the center, which is open Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Singing, Karate Replace Quiet At L.A. Libraries

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Shhh!" is no longer the rule in the Los Angeles public library system.

The reading havens are losing the teen-age trade, so the system is changing its image to try to draw them back, says the libraries' young adult services coordinator, Florence Sanborn.

Local branches have added folksinging, rock 'n roll, talkins and judo and karate lessons and the results have apparently been encouraging, the librarians say.

"It was a novelty for us," said one at the Sylmar branch where floor mats replaced tables and flying bodies replaced books. "Since the demonstration our books on self-defense have been circulating very well."

In the West Valley branch, librarian Marian Buane said, "people were invited to bring their own instruments."

Folk dancers and singers from a local coffee house, led the singing.

In Chatsworth, librarian Laura Tutelman conducts talkins, with discussions covering such subjects as sex, marcotics, transcendental mediation and parents.

In Studio City a rock 'roll band has replaced the checkout desk. "You wouldn't recognize it as a library," says librarian Eleanor Riley.

Actors Will Honor Family Volunteers

The Family Service League will be honored by the Marin Shakespeare Festival at the performance of "Comedy of Errors" at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at Forest Meadows Theatre. About 50 members of the league and their guests are expected.

The league, a volunteer auxiliary to the Family Service Agency of Marin County, is the first of several local organizations to be honored at the festival this year.

Art On Display

Art work by Barbara Kaufman, Joan Boosey and Nancy Brennan of the Terra Linda Art Association will be shown during business hours at the American Savings and Loan Association, 550 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, through Friday.

Marin Taxable Sales Outrace State Pace

Taxable sales in Marin County rose 15.6 per cent compared to a statewide gain of 6 per cent for the first three months of 1968 over the same period a year ago.

Taxable sales in Marin totaled $65,547,000 during January, February and March. The 1967 figure for the same period was $56,712,000.

A boom in new car sales in the first three months over the comparable period a year ago contributed heavily to the increase, according to the state Board of Equalization.

Of Marin's total taxable sales, $11,717,000 was for new cars. Retail stores contributed the heaviest chunk, with a total of $53,671. Business and personal services totaled $2,629,000.

Taxable sales for cities were also reported by the equalization board, but comparisons were not given because of tax rate and tax base changes.

Totals for Marin cities for January, February and March were: Belvedere, $129,000; Corte Madera, $7,332,000; Fairfax, $1,139,000; Larkspur, $1,381,000; Mill Valley, $2,604,000; Novato, $5,817,000; Ross, $84,000; San Anselmo, $2,198,000 San Rafael, $28,276,000 Sausalito, $3,045,000; Tiburon, $930,000.

The highest point in New England is Mt. Washington, Maine, at 6,288 feet.

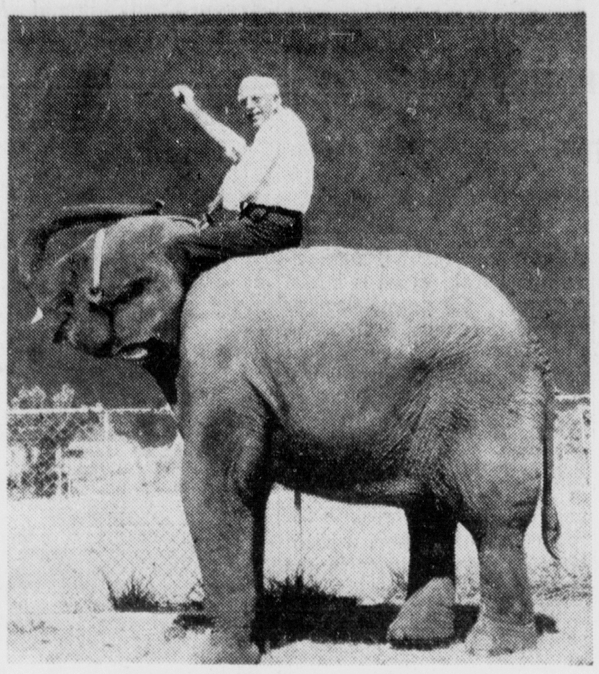
Planning Session Set For Parks

The Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow to discuss improvement plans which escaped the city council's budget ax.

The commission had asked a budget of $34,171, up from last year's $28,300. The figure would have meant a 5-cent increase in the parks and recreation tax rate, a measure which would have needed voter approval.

Of the total, $11,000 was allocated for park improvements. The council cut $5,000.

The commission will consider modifying its plans for restrooms at the ballpark, benches at the tennis courts and repairs to the park pavilion.



LION ABOARD ELEPHANT

Elephants reportedly panic when lions appear, but Neena, performing elephant of the John Strong Circus, didn't seem to mind at all when Sherman Little Sr., past president of the San Rafael Lions Club, mounted her to advertise that the circus, under Lions' sponsorship, is coming to the Montecito Shopping Center Sept. 17 for performances at 4, 6 and 8 p.m. Lions Club members are now selling tickets.

Sanitary Board Eyes Corte Madera Merger

The merger of Corte Madera Sanitary District with the Town of Corte Madera, which has been proposed by the town, will be discussed by sanitary district board members at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The matter will come before the Local Agency Formation Commission Sept. 5.

Volunteers Brave Deadly Heat To Aid Space, Supersonic Fight

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — They're cooking people at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here.

It's an experiment in human reactions to extreme heat, with applications to the aerospace program with supersonic flying.

Three times a day airmen are put into a four-foot-high oven and the heat is increased to 300 and 400 degrees Fahrenheit.

Fifteen minutes at 400 degrees and a small steak should be done rare.

HUMANS HARDY

Some of the human subjects can stand as much as 15 minutes at 300 degrees, well over the boiling point of water, but two or three minutes has been the limit at 400 degrees, said Capt. Grant Callin, 27, of the Aerospace Medical Research Laboratories.

Callin's first conclusion: "That the human body is a lot tougher than you'd think.

One of the most significant conclusions reached since the program began in March, says Callin, is that astronauts could survive re-entry through the earth's atmosphere if their cabin cooling system failed.

"This sort of information could lead to the elimination of a lot of bulky and costly systems from spacecraft," Callin explained.

SUPERSONIC FLIGHT

"The facts we are establishing now will have even greater application in the future," said Callin, "when flying at three times the speed of sound becomes commonplace." Callin has made the "run" 12 times himself. He isn't asking any of his men to do more.

A volunteer wears normal lightweight flying clothing but has thermometers and other instruments attached to his body.

The first sensation the subject experiences, said Callin, is discomfort, as the temperature is raised sharply.

"Then one begins to sweat; euphoria ensues. It's quite remarkable how perspiration protects the skin at these extremely high temperatures," he said.

EARS TOO HOT

As the temperature goes up rapidly, Callin said the subject becomes uncomfortable again. He puts his hands over his burning ears. He stops breathing through his nose as hot air blisters his nostrils. He licks his burning lips.

If the pain becomes too great, the volunteer can have the test stopped. Otherwise, said Callin, it continues until his heartbeat reaches 170 beats per minute. (A normal heart beat is 72 times a minute, rising to 90 with exercise.)

His 11 subjects, between the ages of 23 and 37, were surprised at how quickly the hottest air cooled on being inhaled. There is no possibility of breathing the hot air into the lungs, Callin said.

FATTY BEST

"We found that short, fat subjects held out best in heat as they do in cold," Callin noted.

After the test, the volunteer is helped from the oven onto a stretcher, where he lies until the physician allows him up. Callin said weight loss through perspiration was very slight, perhaps one-tenth of a pound, and that blistered ears had been the only injuries from the tests.

He expects to complete the program early in September.

Callin paid tribute to his volunteers. One airman, he said, had several times been dragged from the oven refusing to admit that he had reached his limit, even when his heartbeat reached 180.

Marinites Plan Foreign Study

Five Marin students at California state colleges will leave at the end of August to spend the fall semester in foreign universities. The students will live and study under the same conditions and take the same courses as the students at the host universities.

The students and the country they will study in are: Frank Holden of 47 Filbert Avenue, Sausalito, to Sweden; Jennie Lyons of 5 Linda Vista, Tiburon, Spain; Bradley C. McRae, 464 Calle De La Mesa, Novato, Sweden; Renato Sottile of 29 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley, Italy; and Hunter W. Williams of 410 Quietwood Drive, San Rafael, Taiwan.

Helen Palubinskas of 85 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley, will continue her studies at Taiwan under a renewal of the international study program.

Shoreline Pact

The Marin County Board of Education will consider an agreement with the new Shoreline Unified School District for provision of consultant services at a meeting at 8 p.m. today in the county schools office.

Sleepy Hollow Woman Dies In House Fire

A Sleepy Hollow woman died early today in a fire that gutted the bedroom of her home at 327 San Francisco Boulevard.

The burned body of Miss Josephine Elizabeth Talbot, 68, was found face down next to her bed, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported. He said she apparently was trying to get out of bed and fell.

Chief Bloom said Miss Talbot apparently fell asleep while smoking in bed, the second such incident at her home in the past two months.

On June 15, Miss Talbot was rescued from her flaming living room by a neighbor after she fell asleep on her couch while smoking. She was hospitalized with burns.

Chief Bloom said today's call came in at 1:04 a.m. and the fire was under control at 1:19 a.m. San Anselmo Fire Department assisted.

He estimated damage to the home at $5,000. Fire damage was confined to the bedroom, with smoke, heat and water damage to the rest of the house.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Decisions Slated This Week On School District Budgets

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

This is the week of decision on school district budgets that will affect school tax rates for the new fiscal year.

Eleven school district in Marin will hold budget hearings tonight. Five more will follow tomorrow, with three more on Wednesday and Marin Junior College District winding up the parade on Thursday.

Most of the smaller districts have held the line closely in their new budgets, some even managing to reduce tax rates. In several of the larger districts, however, stiff rate hikes are in prospect for a variety of reasons.

The budget discussion tonight will be concerned primarily with the operating budgets. These account for only part of the tax expenditure. In addition to the rate required for regular operations, most of the districts levy a variety of override taxes, all have bonds to redeem, and most are also paying off state loans.

A bond issue accounts for the biggest tax raise, a 38-cent hike, in Tomales High School District to start retiring bonds floated to finance a new high school. The district's rate is expected to rise from $1.32 to $1.70 per $100 assessed valuation.

Besides the bond issue, the Tomales High School Disttrict's budget is up 11 per cent above last year's expenditures. It calls for outlay of $401,432 compared to $361,245 in the fiscal year ended June 30.

Next highest projected tax increase is 22.5 cents in Novato Unified School District, where the overall rate is expected to rise from $4.885 to $5.11. Close behind is Reed Elementary School District, with a 22-cent raise predicted, from $3.375 to $3.595, also because of anew bond issue.

San Rafael High School District will need a raise of about 16 cents to finance its new budget plus other outlays. A 6.1-cent increase is forecast in San Rafael Elementary School District.

Other districts where the tax rate is headed upward include Larkspur, up 2.5 cents from $3.40 to $3.425; Marin Junior College, up 4 cents from 78 to 82 cents; Tomales Bay, up 7.5 cents from $1.425 to $1.50.

At this point, the Kentfield district budget of $1,462,392, up 7.3 per cent from last year's $1,362,129, calls for a 4.5-cent tax rate hike, from $3.33 to $3.375. However, Kentfield trustees are committed to hold the line on taxes, and hope to be able to cut about $40,000 out of the budget at their hearing tonight to do so.

Biggest projected tax rate decline is in Dixie Elementary District, where the rate is expected to drop 15 cents, from $3.82 to $3.67, despite a small budget increase.

Sausalito expects to knock 12 cents off its tax rate — from $3.225 to $3.105 — with budgeted outlays for this year below the total actually spent last year.

Fairfax district hopes to reduce its tax rate 3.1 cents, from $3.035 to $3.004. Lagunitas expects a 2.5-cent drop, from $3.375 to $3.35. Ross School District trustees hope to knock at least one cent off last year's $3.105 rate.

Hoping to hold the line on taxes, with possibility of a cent or two variation, are Bolinas-Stinson at $2.195, Mill Valley at $3.15, San Anselmo at $3.415, Tamalpais High at $2.22, and West Marin at $2.02.

The budget totals to be considered at the hearings, with the amounts actually expended last fiscal year, are as follows:

Bolinas-Stinson, $192,972, up .1 of one per cent from last year's $192,744; Dixie, $3,927,479, up .15 of one per cent from last year's $3,683,256; Fairfax, $906,562, up 12.6 per cent from $809,703.

Kentfield, $1,462,392, up .73 of one per cent from $1,362,129; Lagunitas, $386,958, up 20 per cent from $322,835; Larkspur, $1,651,108, up .5 of one per cent from $1,570,366.

Marin Junior College, $3,842,464, up 23 per cent from $3,115,311; Mill Valley, $2,988,325, up .5 of one per cent from $2,852,570; Nicasio, $50,934, up 4 per cent from $48,835.

Novato, $8,696,517, up 7.4 per cent from $8,093,764; Reed, $2,032,853, down 1.5 per cent from $2,064,865; Ross, $437,947, down 3 per cent from $450,649.

San Anselmo, $1,825,350, up 3 per cent from $1,774,683; San Rafael elementary, $4,779,227, up 12 per cent from $4,263,211; San Rafael high, $4,698,569, up 15 per cent from $4,087,869.

Sausalito, $1,462,638, down .2 of one per cent from $1,465,968; Tamalpais High, $9,133,018, up 7.5 per cent from $8,495,406; Tomales Bay, $176,439, down 2 per cent from $180,544; Tomales High, $401,432, up 11 per cent from $361,245, and West Marin, $261,449, down 1 per cent from $264,513.

Three Pilots Back, Head For Debriefing

The trio of American Air Force flyers released Friday by the North Vietnamese were back on American soil yesterday, greeted by their wives and by an Air Force anxious to rush them through medical checkups and military debriefing so they can take a well-deserved leave.

Maj. James F. Low, 43, of Sausalito, Maj. Fred M. Thompson, 32, of Taylors, S.C., and Capt. Joe V. Carpenter, 37, of Ignacio all appeared in fine health as they greeted their wives at New York's Kennedy Airport, before flying on to Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

As soon as he arrived at Andrews, Maj. Low called his father, Paul V. Low of 151 Edwards Avenue, Sausalito.

"He sounded like he was a bit tired," said the elder Low of his son, who was shot down over North Vietnam in December, "but he sounded good nevertheless.

"He said he was okay, feeling good and he'd be out here as soon as he got through the debriefing and hospital treatment and so forth. Then he's coming out here with his wife."

Maj. Low also spoke with his elder son, James Jr., who is staying with his grandparents. Maj. Low's other son, Jeffrey, 10, is living with the major's first wife in Montclair, San Bernardino County.

The flyers, second group of three released by North Vietnam, flew Friday from Hanoi to Vientiane, Laos, and then to Bangkok, Thailand. There, they boarded a commercial plane for New York, after Low had told reporters in Bangkok that he had hopes that more American prisoners would be released by Hanoi.

The choice of a commercial flight instead of a military plane was seen as an effort to encourage future prisoner releases.

San Quentin Normal After 'Unity Day'

San Quentin Prison returned to normal today, officials reported, after a "Unity Day" demonstration that ran for two days—with 2,000 of the prison's nearly 4,000 inmates taking part.

A sympathy demonstration outside the prison gate Saturday starter an hour late at 11 a.m. Fifteen to 20 demonstrators handed out leaflets, carried protest signs and sang songs.

The prisoners were protesting probation and parole policies of the California Adult Authority, particularly handling of the indeterminate sentence law.

The 2,000 inmates remained in their cells Saturday and yesterday during voluntary lockup rather than take part in scheduled recreation. A large number of men went to church yesterday, but only 20 attended a movie which would normally have drawn 600 and 25 attended a football game that usually would have had hundreds of spectators.

Prisoners assigned to work Saturday and yesterday were on the job, and the demonstration was within prison rules, the administration said.

The demonstration was called for by the Outlaw, illicit prison newspaper, for Saturday only, but inmates continued it yesterday.

Officials said 500 to 1,000 men normally would have stayed in their cells during the weekend.

Reed School Budget Hearing Tomorrow

A public hearing on the 1968-69 budget, tentatively approved at $2,032,853, will be held tomorrow by the Reed School District Board. Adoption of the budget is also scheduled. The board will meet at 8 p.m. in the lecture-music hall of the Del Mar School, 105 Avenida Miraflores, Tiburon.

Approval of final plans and materials and a call for grading bids for the Reedland Woods School is also scheduled.

Youth Denies Drug Sale; Trial Set

Eric Stephen Tainter, 20, of no fixed address, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to a charge that he and another man sold marijuana Feb. 7.

Jury trial for Tainter and his codefendant, Barry Lowell Bastian, 25, of Fairfax, was scheduled for the week of Dec. 2.

Inmate Stabbed To Death; Six Suspects Locked Up

A San Quentin Prison inmate was found fatally stabbed outside his cell yesterday in the prison's north honor block.

Wallace Reuben Layne, 36, was found at 5:20 p.m. with knife wounds in the chest, groin, hands, arms and legs. He died 30 minutes later in the prison hospital.

Six suspects have been locked up in connection with the stabbing. Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today. No weapon has been found.

Layne's was the third inmate stabbing death at the prison this year, and the 14th reported stabbing, Park said.

Park said the stabbing had no apparent connection with the weekend's "Unity Day" inmate demonstration in protest against parole and probation practices of the California Adult Authority.

Layne was convicted of forgery in Los Angeles in 1964, paroled in 1965 and returned to San Quentin last November on conviction for a second forgery offense.

Layne's body has been claimed by his family in Ohio, Park said. Funeral arrangements are pending at Harry Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Pleads Innocent

Paul Waldemar Brust, 22, of Novato, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to a charged that he concealed stolen property in his home at 1008B Madrone Street. Jury trial was scheduled for the week of Dec. 2.

Trio Robs Mill Valley Gas Station

Approximately $120 in cash was taken from Fitz's Richfield station, 789 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley, in a strong-arm robbery last night.

David R. O'Dell, 20, of the Mill Valley Air Force Station, Mount Tamalpais, told Mill Valley police that at 9:30 p.m. a young man wearing a ski mask came into the station asking to use the bathroom. He stayed around the station for a few minutes and then left, O'Dell told police.

The man, still wearing a ski mask, returned at 11:35 p.m. with a companion, police reported. The two grabbed O'Dell, hit him and pushed him to the floor, saying "don't look up; don't move," police said.

After a third man entered the office and took the cash, O'Dell said, the robbers put him in an unlocked store room and told him not to try to escape for a few minutes.

After a minute had passed, O'Dell told police, he heard another car pull into the station so he ran out of the store room. A police car, alerted to the robbery by the silent alarm, arrived as O'Dell and his customer were chasing the three robbers down the street. The trio escaped.

County And Cities Shirk Ambulance Responsibility

One of the sorriest chapters of recent Marin history is that concerned with ambulance service.

Of Marin's 11 cities, only two, Mill Valley and Sausalito, have ever recognized emergency ambulance service as a city responsibility. And Mill Valley has abandoned that responsibility in recent years. Only Sausalito now has city-operated emergency ambulance service.

The county itelf has for years treated ambulance service more as a commercial venture than as a part of public safety protection. The county board of supervisors' approach until recently has been to divide up the territory among ambulance companies so that all would share in the business without competition. After a brief period during which two companies shared county-paid emergency calls except in the Novato area, the board appears about to return to that practice.

THE ZONE FRANCHISE method of ambulance service has been tried and found wanting. So has the exclusive contract on the basis of low bid, which County Administrator Alan Bruce is urging on the supervisors.

The files of the Independent-Journal are full of stories which describe what happened under these systems. Nor does one have to go back far. Here are just three of many:

July 9, 1968: Mrs. Margaret J. Bennet of San Rafael was awarded a $200,000 court judgment against United Ambulance Co. for its failure to promptly respond to an emergency call when her husband was stricken by a heart attack. He died.

June 30, 1967: Mercy Ambulance of Novato was accused of refusing to pick up two youths injured in a traffic accident. One of them did not reach a hospital until one hour and 15 minutes after the call.

April 27, 1966: Michael A. McDonald, a stevedore, died on the roadside in San Rafael while police waited for the ambulance they had called after finding him lying there injured.

There are other stories of failure of ambulances to respond to emergency calls, of a policeman having to deliver babies because the ambulance did not arrive, etc. The complaints have involved various ambulance companies, under various ownerships.

THE PRESENT PROPOSAL to return to exclusive zones arises from Novato Ambulance Co.'s stopping emergency service in North Marin because it did not produce a profit. The other two companies — Doctors and United—are agreeable to the zone arrangement although United preferred the exclusive contract on low-bid basis proposed by Bruce.

Nonemergency ambulance service is a business like any other. But emergency ambulance service is part of the public safety protection for which government should assume responsibility. Certainly it is a more traditional and more vital part of governmental responsibility than deciding what size sign a business should be allowed or what color a building may be painted, for instance.

When will the board of supervisors and the city councils in Marin recognize this responsiblity? The time is long past when this part of public safety protection in Marin County can be left to the dollar dictates of private business.

"You ordered these?"

Highway, Missile Bills Show Power Of Big-Money Lobbies

WASHINGTON — Congress is playing the oldest of the old politics in the last gasp. In the frenetic, steamy, emotional windup days the lobbyists for the big-spending blocs get in their licks.

The champions in this playoff are the truckers and the highway lobbyists. They have succeeded in punching through a bill that will work great harm on the road network and in the cities, where a precedent has been set for dictation by Congress in chopping through freeways regardless of human considerations. Conservationists and city planners are dismayed at what they see as the tyranny of the motorcar and interests on a major segment of the economy.

Thanks to aggressive investigative reporting, it has been shown that the truckers made generous "contributions" to key member sof the House Public Works Committee. By the kind of specious "compromise" characteristic of these last-minute raids, the bill ready for final passage and the President's signature provides an additional 1,500 miles to the federal highway system. Parcelled out among the states, this is the bait to draw support from every region.

BY ANOTHER SHAM "compromise" the effort to eliminate billboards from the federal highways is all but ruled out. In a gesture that seems almost contemptuous, $2 million is provided for the entire 50 states to compensate billboard owners where the state may require a billboard taken down. But there can be no such requirement unless federal funds are available for compensation.

By dictating where freeways shall pass through the city of Washington, a precedent is set that can be applied, as the powerful public works committee sees fit, to other cities. One of the sources of deep hostility in the ghettos of America is the way in which these concrete rivers with their incessant flow of traffic displace slum swellings, with little or no provision for the families thrown onto the street by the bulldozer.

Where the power of the truckers' lobby hits the traveling public hardest is on the weight and size of the giant trucks that clog the highways. The public works committee writes into a bill provisions for increasing the total weight from 36 tons to 69 tons and width from eight to eight and a half feet. The obvious hazard to motorists has brought organizations such as the American Automobile Association into the fray against the truckers' lobby. There is no real limit on length, and experimental units with three trailers are already on the highways. For political muscle, the opposition cannot match the billions at the disposal of the truckers and their spokesmen on the public works committee.

THE FEDERAL highway system is, in effect, a subsidy for the trucking industry. One of the few members of the House with the courage to fight the lobby and the interlocking directorate in Congress, Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, says that the increase in weight will add up to $3 billion to the federal highway bill for strengthening bridges and roads.

For his attempt to block the bill Schwengel was derided on the floor as a "polecat," language so abusive it was later stricken from the record. He protested that the rules committee had pushed the measure through with less than an hour of discussion. Schwengel marshalled a mass of expert testimony to show the perils in legislating by fiat of special-interest groups.

A SIMILAR spending pattern in what is in many ways a far more serious area was evident in passage of the sacrosanct military appropriations bill. Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., moved to strike out $263,300,000 for deployment of the so-called thin line anti-ballistic missile system.

This produced a storm of rhetoric with Chairman Mendel Rivers of the Armed Services Committee invoking "your men in uniform, your men who are sworn to die for America . . . begging for this system day in and day out, year in and year out." It turned out to be Down-With-McNamara Day as the former secretary of defense was denounced for opposing the over-all ABM system and finally capitulating for a $5 billion ABM aimed at protection from Chinese missiles in the '70s.

The rational argument for a start on the limited system was that this put the United States in a position of strength in the forthcoming negotiations with the Soviet Union. But, as Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., pointed out, once a start is made there is no stopping and the pressures will grow for the full $50 billion ABM.

Whether it is the Eisenhower military-industrial complex or the truckers, the private spenders get their way in the hectic closing hours.

Ambulance Operator Revises Opinion

In the July 31 issue of the I-J I was quoted as asking the board of supervisors to order a grand jury investigation into the relationship between the county administrator and the president of United Ambulance.

This is not entirely true as I only suggested, that due to certain circumstances, these relations might well bear the scrutiny of that body.

Since writing that letter I have had the pleasure of seeing a marked change take place in the attitudes of both of these parties, as pertains to the administrator's proposal for a monopolistic ambulance service contract.

At the Wednesday meeting of the Emergency Medical Care Committee both agreed to abide by a compromise two-company, two-zone contract as jointly proposed by Mr. (Alan) Bruce and Board of Supervisors Chairman (Ernest N.) Kettenhofen.

I feel that, if these gentlemen are willing to accept such a fair compromise plan, the very least that I can do is to publicly revise my opinion of their relationship and commend their actions toward solving the many ambulance problems that have beset Marin County . . .

KENNETH M. HALE
Administrator
Doctors Ambulance Service
San Rafael

(Editor's note: Hale's letter addressed to Ernest N. Kettenhofen, chairman of the county board of supervisors, on July 26, contained the following: "The only thing that keeps the controversy alive is Mr. Bruce's longing for a one-company contract over which he could play God and Mr. Angotti's desire to be that single contractor. I am of the belief that the romance between Angotti and Bruce might well invite the scrutiny of the grand jury.")

Missile Editorial Disagreement—Or?

Your 7/30 editorial: "Deeper Reason Behind Missile Site Opposition," certainly doesn't clearly support the basic reasons of dissent.

Let's clarify the issues in the order you presnet them:

1. "The payroll would provide a boost in the economy." A spokesman for the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce was recently quoted in the I-J stating that the payroll was $2½ million. Divide the reported wage earners into that, and you will conclude an average wage of only $3,600. On that wage who can subsist?

2. "Only public agency faced with providing new services is the school district." Mr. Editor, of our local tax bite, what percentage goes for schools? Need I say more?

3. Only Tiburon, of all the Southern Marin communities, hasn't opposed the missile site "citing the potential payroll." Now that I've shot down the payroll myth, let's point out that local Tiburon business will gain immensely from start-up and construction of the multi-million dollar complex. Tiburon has a choice to either orient itself toward a recreation economy or a sabre economy.

4. "Intrusion of the military into the environment, and loss of recreational acreage" are not the sole reasons for opposition. I'm sure in agreement with you here — knocking out a Red Chinese missile 30 miles from Tiburon won't save the day by a long shot!

Should anti-missile nuclear missiles ever be stored on scenically wealthy Angel Island, you picnic there and tell us about the relaxing holiday you had . . . Boom!

People Of Marin Reject Advantages

We could have had the Marine World here, which is now in San Mateo County; but the people in Mill Valley voted against it along with the city council.

Are the people stupid, along with the supervisors? Yes! As Mr. (Robert) Coman of San Rafael says "To kill a good clean tax producer is stupid" (he was commenting on the anti-missile base). Apparently we would rather pay higher property taxes.

I have recently been on a trip and all of the places (like Australia and New Zealand) that are smart have ferries and hydrofoil boats. So I would like to know of a better bay to have ferries and hydrofoil boats than San Francisco Bay?

Considering the lack of foresight and stupidity in this area, I think I move — like a lot of other people I know.

Heart Association Seeks Suggestions

Unfortunately a portion of my letter of 7/25/68 was edited out. The result that was printed sounded like a plea for funds, which it was not. I apologize for not making myself clearer.

The Marin County Heart Association has become more and more intimately involved with the regional medical program (the De Bakey bill modified) in an advisory capacity as to how best federal health funds should be spent for heart disease and stroke. We are in the midst of programming a regional stroke program that will include Marin County.

The real plea was for more community participation in the membership-free Marin County Heart Association. The board of directors needs the advice and counsel of Marinites as to how to give the advice. What does the county want?

Violence Begets Peace In Vietnam?

More good thinking on the part of our vice president: In his speech before the Commonwealth Club he asserts that "violence begets violence," and later: "I think these negotiations will succeed."

If violence begets violence he expects continued bombing to beget conciliation at Paris?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE CENTURY Golf Club found itself short of caddies one balmy Sunday, and the boys who did turn up were in such demand that by 2:30 p.m. each of them had lugged heavy bags for 54 holes. They were nursing their tired feet in the caddy house when a late-starting foursome demanded that two of the boys tote their bags for them for one more round. "Nay, nay, nay," quoth the caddie master, "I cannot free the sorest for the tees."

George Heister tells of a tired businessman whose grueling day at the office was capped by his wife's announcement that their prized cook had walked out. "Why?" demanded the husband. "It was all your fault," charged his wife. "She said you used vile and insulting language to her over the phone this morning." "Good grief," confessed the husband. "I thought I was talking to you.!"

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Election Year Saves Californians From New State Tax Bite, But...

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It's possible that sometime in the future, government may come to the realization that the cow has only so much milk to give, and that the calf needs some of the milk to continue the existence of the bovine breed.

This realization, however, hasn't been evident in the lengthy deliberations of the state Legislature this year, nor for sometime in the past, despite the fact that government has just about reached the point at all levels — federal, state and local — where the strippers are draining the udders for the last drop of tax money available.

While the Legislature hasn't put the bite on the taxpayers this year for tax increases, it has laid the groundwork for such action in the future.

TRADITIONALLY, the Legislature has avoided tax increases during an election year. It had more cause than usual this year to steer clear of legislation which would result in direct outlays from the citizens' pocketbook, in view of the billion-dollar increase assessed in 1967.

But this doesn't mean the public will pay less for government during the remainder of 1968, and in 1969. The 10 per cent income tax surcharge imposed by the federal government will take care of that little oversight.

And while the Legislature has devoted its talents to spending, local government has not been negligent in figuring out ways and means of taking bigger bites out of the paycheck.

FOR EXAMPLE, the City of Los Angeles made a sporadic attempt to add a city sales tax to the five cents on the dollar the citizen already pays to the state. The council adopted an ordinance to this effect, and scheduled it to become effective Aug. 1. Then later, when it was discovered such a tax might not be legal in accordance with the state's laws, it adopted an emergency ordinance withholding the effective date until Sept. 1.

At the same time, the council levied what is known as the "tippler tax," a five per cent bite on drinks served over bars in the City of the Angels.

Tax increases by any levying government authority are blamed on many things, and countless excuses are given by politicians elected to represent the interest of the people as to the necessity for such increases.

Some of the reasons for tax increases may be valid, but the fact remains, the increases are imposed, and the citizen, rather than government, is the one who suffers.

Use Of Federal Funds For Revolution Charged

WASHINGTON — The badly battered anti-poverty program is under heavy fire again, this time from congressmen who say some of its educational programs have been a training ground for violent, hate-mongering revolutionaries.

The apparently unprovoked killing of three Cleveland, Ohio, policemen, by black militants, is the focus for some of the new charges. Also a target is the "Upward Bound" program, a previously untarnished showcase operation of the Offfice of Economic Opportunity.

"Upward Bound" is an educational program designed to help disadvantaged students, with high potential, finsh high school and go on to college. New bipartisan complaints about the program were a factor in the recent House decision to remove "Upward Bound" from OEO and place it under the U.S. Office of Education.

REP. WILLIAM E. Minshall, R-Ohio, has asked for an investigation of reports that riflemen who sparked the Cleveland disorders were led by a beneficiary of a federally assisted anti-poverty program.

Fred (Ahmed) Williams, a turbaned, bearded black nationalist who has been charged in the murder of the Cleveland policemen, is reported to have headed a summer crafts program which received $10,300 from a federally aided anti-poverty project. OEO officials say no federal funds were actually paid to Williams.

REP. EDITH GREEN, D-Ore., chairman of the House education subcommittee, has been leading the new attack on "Upward Bound." Singling out "Upward Bound" projects in her own state, she declared the government has been "financing with federal tax dollars the activities of revolutionaries."

The co-directors of a Portland, Ore., "Upward Bound" project, Mrs. Green told the House, admitted that he had stated publicly he would take "every goddamn cent" OEO would provide and "support revolution with it."

Herself a critic of President Johnson's policies in Vietnam, Mrs. Green displayed a poster critical of the war ("Die Nigger Die — You can't die fast enough in the Ghettos"). She said such posters were distributed at the Salem, Ore., state prison by "Upward Bound" staff members.

Another Democrat, Rep. Robert N. Giamimo, Conn., endorsing Mrs. Green's stand, said the government has funded revolution in many instances. He called it "the first time in the history of a nation where it funds and allocates money to its own overthrow."

Dogs, Disputes Go Together As New Law Waits Enforcement

Dogs are man's best friends, but they can also cause some neighborhood ill feelings and disputes.

A Novato man has an excellent garden in his fenced back yard. It is a small area, but it is lush with the growth of tomatoes, beans, peas and other vegetables. He also has two pens where he keeps two pair of pet pigeons.

The other morning, he left the garden gate open. A large dog belonging to a neighbor ran in. Within a few minutes the dog was raising havoc with the garden and frightening the pigeons. So the man turned the garden hose onto the dog.

The irate neighbor came to the rescue of his dog. Hot words flew. Before it was over the gardener turned the hose on the man as well as the dog.

SINCE JULY 11, it has been illegal in Novato to allow a dog to roam at large. Had the one man obeyed the law, the neighborhood dispute would not have erupted.

Under the new ordinance, the license fees on all dogs were increased to help pay for enforcement. The city council budgeted $11,500 for this in the new fiscal year. This was to hire another enforcement officer and a truck for the Marin County Humane Society.

Dean Southwell, director of operations for the humane society, said he has not yet received any call from the city for this added enforcement.

Novato City Mgr. J. Julien Baget said that City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. is working on a contract between the city and county for the added dog control. Baget expects the money to be available on Oct. 1, and the increased dog control to begin after that.

WITH THE OPENING of the new Dervin Ford garage south of Novato Creek on the west side of Highway 101, another area of cross-traffic was opened on Highway 101 in Novato.

The Lamont Avenue crossing was a dangerous one. This will be helped with the installation this fall of a set of traffic lights.

When the southbound motorist leaves this intersection, he finds the end of the 40 mile per hour speed zone. Most drivers are doing the speed limit of 65 miles per hour when they hit the Dervin Ford cross-traffic.

So far there have not been major accidents there, but it is almost inevitable that one of these days a fast driving motorist will have an accident with the slow moving cross traffic.

The City of Novato is trying to get the 40 mile speed zone extended farther south to go past this added cross traffic.

ART BUCHWALD

Not One Kopeck For Copyright, Thanks To J. Edgar Hoover

MOSCOW — The Russians do not have to pay royalties on western works since they have never signed the copyright convention. But if a writer from the west shows up they will offer to pay him in rubles.

For the past six years the Russians have been using my column, and I was told I had thousands of rubles waiting for me. The ruble is valued at $1.11.

My first temptation was to take the rubles and buy caviar with them. But then I saw a vision of J. Edgar Hoover shaking his head angrily and saying, "Don't do it, Arthur. You'll become a paid agent of the Communist Party."

I broke into a cold sweat. How could I turn down the rubles without offending the publications that had been stealing my stuff?

I WAITED for the vision of J. Edgar Hoover to appear again. He came to me a day later, just as I was taking a photograph of the Kremlin palace. "Not the palace, stupid," he said furiously. "Take a picture of the bridge."

"Yes, sir," I said. "By the way, J. Edgar, about those royalties. If I don't accept them the Soviets are going to get terribly hurt, as well as suspicious. I don't want to blot my notebook with the FBI, but at the same time I don't want the Communists to think I've got that much contempt for money."

An agonized look came over Hoover's vision. "You may have a point. I'll get back to you."

THE FOLLOWING day I was in the Pushkin Museum staring at a lovely nude by Renoir. Suddenly the face of the nude was replaced by Hoover's. When my Intourist guide wasn't looking, Hoover whispered, "You know you're being followed, don't you?"

"Of course, I know it," I said. "I'm being followed by a vice president from the national bank of Kiev. He keeps trying to shove that satchel of rubles in my hands. I can't think of a good reason not to take them."

"Arthur," he said, "you must be strong. Once you take those rubles you will be in their power and they will use you like they used Klaus Fuchs and Philby."

"I know that," I cried, "but if I refuse the money, they'll think someone else is paying me to write those articles. Couldn't I accept a couple of thousands rubles just for laughs?"

Hoover pursed his lips. "Not one kopek. And don't try anything behind my nude back. I have someone following the man who's following you."

I DIDN'T HEAR from Hoover for two days. Then as I was passing a statue of Lenin with his hand pointing out I saw Hoover's head again in place of Lenin's. "Get a picture of that tank," he said. I looked at where his finger was pointing and snapped a photograph.

"They won't let me leave the country unless I take the rubles," I told him.

"My people have come up with a plan," J. Edgar said. "Call a press conference of Soviet newspapermen and announce that the dollar is in a great deal of trouble and that you're worried it will be devalued at any time. But you know that the ruble will always remain strong. Therefore you're going to keep the rubles in a bank in the Soviet Union as insurance against the day when the dollar goes to pot."

"THAT'S GOOD thinking, J. Edgar," I said excitedly. "They'll have to buy the story. Thanks so much for helping me out."

"That's my job," he said. "I have to leave now. If you need me, I'll be back in the Renoir at the Pushkin Museum."

Corte Madera Opens Pump Bids

The Johnston Pump Co. of Burlingame submitted low bid of $4,977 Friday to supply the Town of Corte Madera with four flood control pumps.

The pumps would be used in Madera Gardens lagoons and in the town corporation yard.

The other bids received were $5,564 by Beta Engineering Co. of Fremont; $5,735 by Byron Jackson Pumps of San Francisco; $7,423 by Pump Repair Service and $8,029 by Peerless Pumps of San Francisco.

San Rafael Tax Rate To Be Set

The San Rafael City Council is scheduled to set a tax rate for the current fiscal year, probably at 86 cents per $100 assessed valuation, when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the city hall.

Last year's rate was 90 cents per $100.

A drainage study of east San Rafael by the firm of Carlos Gonzales, civil engineers, will be among the other items discussed by the council.

Chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission is Hugh Dougherty.

Murder Of Earl Warren's Father Review In Court Controversy

By BILL BLOECHER
Bakersfield Californian

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—In the records of California crime — noted for macabre unsolved murders—the slaying of Methias H. Warren 30 years ago remains shrouded deep in mystery.

Long dormant in the files of Bakersfield police, the murder suddenly has come alive as the controversy surrounding Earl Warren continues, heightened by his resignation as chief justice.

Methias was the father of Earl Warren, one-time Bakersfield newsboy who three times was governor of the State of California, aspired to the U.S. presidency and then was appointed chief justice.

As a storm center—both bitterly denounced and loyally defended — Warren, in the latter position, increasingly has become the subject of biographers and essayists. The Warren murder mystery has not eluded these would-be historians and a number of books on the career of the chief justice appeared.

It was on the Sunday morning of May 15, 1938 that Bakersfield awakened to the disturbing news the aging recluse Methias H. Warren, by report wealthy from shrewd real estate ventures, had been bludgeoned to death.

He died at the hands of an unidentified killer in the modest home which he occupied alone.

Until his death Methias had been relatively obscure. A native of Norway, he worked as a car inspector for the Southern Pacific Railroad after moving to Bakersfield. Methodically, and apparently successfully, he invested his savings in real estate, some of it in rental properties.

But it was to his son Earl, later to become the only Californian to win election three times as governor, that he was to owe the importance later attached to his demise.

Earl, after a modest beginning delivering papers after bicycling to and from Kern County Union High School, had gone on to higher education at the University of California and unusual success as a prosecuting attorney. He also entered national politics and became a Republican national committeeman.

The shock waves of the elder Warren's death were still rocking Bakersfield when young Warren arrived. Both the circumstances of the crime and the importance of young Warren's soaring political star quickly brought law enforcement officers and investigators from the Bay Area and Southern California.

Not even the news of a calamitous wrecking of an airliner with all its human cargo 50 miles away could budge the Warren murder story from its domination of front page headlines.

The man who was later to head the highest court in the land was Alameda County prosecutor and a likely candidate for the office of attorney general of California in the upcoming elections the following fall when the elder Warren met his death.

Robert B. Powers, long since retired but still a Bakersfield resident, was chief of police and in charge of the investigation.

"The pressure was terrific," Powers recalls. "It must be understood that Warren at that time had already gained considerable popularity among organized peace officers in the state and they were quick to rally and volunteer assistance."

A total of 22 investigators were assigned to the case, together with five stenographers. Warren left after five days, after arranging his father's funeral and handling estate matters.

The body was found by a Warrem employee, William Reed, who had gone to the house to discuss business.

"A trail of blood," a newspaper account read, "led from the chair in Warren's kitchen to the bed. Blood stains surrounding the chair and on letters scattered near it were found, and the man's shattered glasses were lying on the floor near his bedroom slippers. Both were near the chair in which Warren was apparently sitting when the attack occurred.

There were the familiar "mystery witnesses" and other stereotypes of unsolved murder cases, including the disclosure of a purported violent argument late on the night of the murder.

But Powers says he is convinced the guilty man never was in custody or known. The murder could have been committed by one of Warren's tenants. He had several rental houses of nondescript type.

"Warren was killed with a pipe which was picked up in his back yard by the murderer before entering," Powers says in reconstructing the slaying. "A man intent on killing would have gone there prepared.

"I think it is reasonable that the killer went to the Warren premises, peered through the window, saw him alone going over accounts, handling money, and decided to rob him.

"For a weapon he looked about, and picked up the rusty pipe, part of the litter in the yard. I believe that robbery clearly was the motive.

One act of the guilty person which has never been explained adequately, Powers said, was the matter of the murderer's scattering rent receipts—and a $5 bill—after leaving the house.

Neither the rusty pipe, the death weapon, or any of the other possible leads rewarded investigators with identifiable fingerprints or other ties to the crime.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Nearsighted Youngsters Often Completely Unaware Of Woes

VAN DELLEN

Many stories have been told about the nearsighted child. The condition may exist for some time before the parents learn of the defect.

One of my secretaries told me she never knew that signs and billboards existed along the highways until her nearsightedness was detected and she was fitted with glasses. She had not complained because she never knew what she was missing.

New specs opened up a new world for her.

THE MYOPIC is nearsighted because rays of light from an object passing through the lens converge in front of the retina. He inherits an eyeball that is too long or a lens too convex in shape. The world of the myopic is right at hand explaining why he prefers reading and close work.

Farsightedness (hyperopia) is the opposite condition. Rays focus behind the retina because the eyeball is too short or the lenses do not bend the rays sharply enough. Astigmatism is associated with blurring and distorted images, regardless of distance.

The cornea, and sometimes the lens, is imperfectly curved, like a badly made pane of glass. The light rays are bent irregularly and cannot be sharply focused. Astigmatism may coexist with myopia or hyperopia.

THOSE WHO PRIDE themselves on having good vision may be forced to stop crowing on reaching the age of 40.

Presbyopia makes it more and more difficult to read without holding the book farther and farther away. Glasses are needed when the arms are not long enough or the person has to step outside a telephone booth to look up a number. It develops sooner in the farsighted because more accommodation always has been needed.

Nearsighted persons may escape presbyopia by removing their distance glasses. The condition is due to less elasticity of the lens with increasing loss in near-focus power. Eye exercises cannot restore this loss of elasticity.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SPITS WHEN TALKING

P. S. writes: Why do some people spit when they talk? By this, I mean excess saliva.

REPLY

This occurs in public speakers who have excess saliva and must talk loudly and vigorously. In ordinary conversation, the nervous or high-strung person may be affected this way, or the individual may be too lazy to bother swallowing or clearing saliva from the mouth.

DIET AFTER COLOSTOMY

P. R. writes: Can a person with a colostomy eat everything, including vegetables?

REPLY

Yes, but vegetables should be cooked and perferably pureed. Most people do better when they eliminate spices, fried foods, carbonated beverages, uncooked fruits and vegetables, bran, pork, veal, and duck.

CAUSES COUGH

O. E. writes: Why does my husband start coughing whenever he exerts himself? He has chronic bronchitis.

REPLY

This is common in chronic bronchitis because the added exertion stretches the inflamed bronchi and sets off the coughing reflex. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchitis.

HEART ATTACK

A. K. B. writes: Does a feeling of nausea occur before a heart attack?

REPLY

Now and then it does, but nausea is more likely to stem from nervousness or indigestion associated with stomach or gall bladder trouble. As a result, the symptom cannot be considered a reliable indication of an impending heart attack.

DEFICIENT MILK

A reader writes: What would cause the milk to dry up after three weeks of nursing a baby?

REPLY

General weakness, ill health, and emotional states (fright or anxiety) are the most common causes. Malformation or disease of the breasts and an inadequate amount of gland tissue also lead to deficient milk secretion. An infant too puny to stimulate the continued flow of milk is another possibility.

UNKINDNESS TO STOMACH

A reader writes: What brings on gastritis?

REPLY

The victim may be unkind to his stomach, bombarding it with the wrong food or drink or keeping it in turmoil through nervous tension.

NIACIN AND PRESSURE

H. B. P. writes: Is nicotinic acid helpful in high blood pressure?

REPLY

Nicotinic acid (niacin) dilates the small vessels and has been recommended in hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis), but it has little or no effect upon hypertension. The vitamin is used to lower cholesterol levels.

Heroin Suspect Tries To Flee

OAKLAND (AP)—Police say they are holding a man who wrecked his new car over the weekend trying to ram his way out of a trap sprung by narcotics agents.

Agents said Cirilio Lopez, 33, believed of San Francisco was captured Saturday night and charged with suspicion of possession of narcotics.

They said Lopez had agreed to sell eight ounces of pure heroin for $3,000 to an unidentified undercover agent at a parking lot on High Street.

The money was supposed to be in the trunk of the agents car, officers said, and when the trunk lid was lifted, the other agents came out of hiding.

Lopez tried to escape, officers said, by driving into the agent's car. His car then hit another car occupied by agents, snapped off a power pole and crashed into the garage of a home.

Ancient Lightship Now In Museum

NEW YORK (AP) — After decades of guiding navigators of sea and air into New York, the Scotland Lightship took up her final station today—the South Street Seaport Museum at Pier 16, East River.

The lobster-red ship with the white hull letters "Scotland" originally was stationed over the 19th Century wreck of the Steamship "Scotland" off Sandy Hook, N.J., not far from her better known Coast Guard sistership, the Ambrose Lightship.

The two-masted Scotland lightship, which served to warn ships of the wreck and the shoals of Sandy Hook, also sent out aircraft radio-beacon signals to planes headed for New York-area airports.

The lightship, deactivated about four years ago, has been replaced by an electronically lighted buoy.

Networks Ready To Cover Miami

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—"What's going on in Miami Beach?" asked Walter Cronkite.

Then the veteran anchor man answered his own question by giving the CBS audience an introduction to the Republican national convention last night with an hour-long series of interviews and opinions setting the stage for this week's selection of a presidential candidate.

He made it look easy, neatly slotting facts and comment into the introductions that preceded appearances by the three leading candidates — Richard Nixon and Governors Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California. But it isn't easy and in an interview Cronkite talked about the four years of study and preparation that provide the solid background for his convention performance.

All three networks weighed in yesterday with programs from the Miami Beach Convention Hall kicking off a month of political decision which will cost them an estimated $25 million, including an expensive shift to Chicago where the Democratic national convention makes its presidential choice the week of Aug. 26.

The actual cost of TV coverage is somewhat higher since overseas networks are buying considerable time on the satellites. There has been regret expressed that some of the convention hoopla of the past has been eliminated for the benefit of television but perhaps its just as well. Our allies in Europe and the Far East have enough to worry about without puzzling over our exuberant method of choosing a man for the most powerful political job on earth.

Cronkite for CBS and Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, working in tandem for NBC for the 12th year since they were first teamed in the 1956 conventions, paved the way in Sunday's shows for the saturation coverage to which their networks are committed. ABC's Howard K. Smith made the point that his network will concentrate on a 90-minute summary every night rather than follow the proceedings from gavel to gavel.

ABC's motives are largely dictated by economy but it will be interesting to see how it fares in the ratings. Some CBS and NBC functionaries privately think their networks are overdoing a good thing and that fans of preempted shows may spin the dial in frustration or boredom.

Police Call Box Bombed In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Two young men were arrested yesterday and accused of detonating a homemade bomb in a police call box in Queens.

The bomb, built from a firecracker and 1½ by 2½ inches, went off during the early morning hours. Debris was found 150 feet away. No one was injured.

As a result of the explosion, police and citizens were warned not to use the boxes for fear of further booby-trapping of the city's 4,000 boxes.

Arrested were John Norbutt, 20, and Kenneth Goggans, 20, both of Queens. They were charged with reckless endagerment and conspiracy. Norbutt also was charged with criminal tampering, criminal mischief and possession of a dangerous weapon.

Hijacker Forces Plane To Havana

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hijacker, clutching a gun and his baby, ordered a charter plane pilot to take him to Cuba yesterday or "fly until we run out of gas."

The pilot, James Vach, 21, was released after spending three hours at Havana's airport. He flew back to Florida where the trip began as a $5 sightseeing tour.

'VERY CALM'

"He was very calm," Vach said of the gunman, who said he could see his baby on weekends.

"He said it very casually: 'Let's go to Havana'. I laughed. I didn't believe it. Then I looked at him and I saw the gun. That changed the whole picture."

The hijacker listed his name as Stewart Orth of Miami when he chartered the flight to take his blonde, two and a half-year-old daughter flying over Naples, a Gulf Coast Florida city south of Tampa.

Radio Havana, the official voice of the Cuban government, reported the incident early today and identified the hijacker as a U.S. citizen but listed no name. The report did not say what the Cuban government intends to do with the man and child.

Vach said he told the man he didn't have enough fuel for the trip and had no maps. The gunman ordered Vach to fly south anyway and check the fuel gauge at intervals. A quarter tank of fuel remained when they landed.

JETS AT SIDE

American interceptors from Key West, Fla., accompanied the plane part of the way to Havana and then Cuban jets came alongside.

Using the name Orth, the hijacker checked into a Naples motel Saturday. Charlotte Hunt, a motel desk clerk, said he told her he was the child's father, but was divorced from her mother.

The Naples Airline plane yesterday marked the 16th hijacking or attempt this year. Three of the earlier air piracies involved charter planes. The others were commercial airliners.

Bolin Holds Spell Over Pirate Batters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Giant's right-hander Bob Bolin probably feels he hasn't pitched enough this season — but the Pittsburgh Pirates undoubtedly feel he is overworked.

Bolin, the forgotten man of the Giant's pitching staff during the first half of the season, contonued his brilliant comeback yesterday with a five-hit, 2-0 victory over the Pirates.

The 6-foot-4 pitcher also belted a run-scoring single as he raised his record to 5-3 with his second complete game and second shutout — both against the sixth-place Bucs.

Of his seven starts this season, three have been against Pittsburgh. His only three victories as a starter have come at the expense of the Pirates, who show only two earned runs in 25 innings against Bolin.

"I can't explain my success against Pittsburgh," says Bolin. "My slider has been working real well lately.

"I've even been throwing a changeup off it and have been effective with it," he said.

Bolin equally was excited over his fifth inning single following Frank Johnson's leadoff hit and Hal Lanier's sacrifice.

San Francisco added a run off reliever Tommie Sisk in the eighth on singles by Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Dave Marshall.

"I got the hit on the first fast ball I've seen all season," mused Bolin, who was 1-for-24 before knocking in the go-ahead run.

Bolin's gem lowered his earned run average to 1.84 and extended the Pirates' scoreless inning string to 18. Lefthander Ray Sadecki scattered 9 hits in a 7-0 victory Saturday.

San Francisco hoped to extend its shutout streak today when Juan Marichal, 20-4, sought his 21st victory in the opener of a three-game series against the Philadelphia Phillies and Woody Fryman, 11-11.

Champ Nicklaus Like Kid With New Toy

CHICAGO (AP) — An hour after Jack Nicklaus handily locked up the Western Open Golf Championship yesterday he still was hanging around the press room. He was laughing, patting scribes on the back and talking about the technicalities of his game.

The frustration of failing to win a tournament in 9½ months was over and the Golden Bear, like a kid with new toys, made the most of it.

TWO STRAIGHT

He took his second consecutive Western title and the $26,000 payoff with ridiculous ease. He was leading by four strokes entering the last round and won by three with a closing 71 and a 273 total, 11 under Olympia Fields' murdered par.

Only one player who was anywhere near the pace made a determined charge at Nicklaus. Miller Barber, 37, winner of the 1968 Nelson Classic, finished with birdies on three of the last five holes for a 66. It gave him second-place money of $15,600 with 276.

Much credit for adding some dash to the 65th Western Open must go to 22-year-old Bobby Stanton of Australia, winner of a mere $5,131 this year. Bobby was in contention from the start, failed to break down where others did, and closed with a 71.

BOGEY

He took a bogey 6 on the last hole when he strayed into the bleachers. Stanton totaled 277 and picked off his biggest purse of $9,750 for third place.

Julius Boros, the oldest PGA king at age 48, displayed unreal steadiness in a final 70 for 278 and fourth-place money of $6,500.

Bobby Smith, young pro from Sacramento, had a dazzling 66 finale to share fifth place with George Archer and Homero Blancas. They each pocketed $4,980.

(Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael closed with a 72, his 292 total being out of the money.)

Before departing from the press room, Kid Nicklaus asked writers to send him clip sheets so that he could paste them in his scrap book.

PUTTING GOOD

"This has been a frustrating year for me," said the young millionaire who boosted his year's winnings to $95,488. "I played well all week and did some of my best putting for the whole season.

"I was hoping very much not to go all year without a victory. And I can't think of a better place to win than on a really good golf course—and Olympia Fields is that type of course. It gives you a little extra pride to win on a course like this.

SATISFIED

"When you go into the final round with a four-stroke lead you have a different attitude," continued Nicklaus. "There no longer is any reason to take gambles. But at the same time you have to play a solid game. I am well satisfied with my final par 71."

Nicklaus' career money winnings now amount to $806,964 and joins Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper as the only pros to top the $800,000 mark. It also virtually assured big Jack of an unprecedented sixth straight year of $100,000 or more.

Two Days Of Rest For Oakland A's

CLEVELAND (AP)—Oakland will sit back and hope for Boston to lose during the next two days as the American League schedule gives the Athletics two days off.

Oakland split a doubleheader with Cleveland yesterday, winning the first game 5-0 and losing the second 7-4. The Athletics remained in fifth place, 12 games behind league-leading Detroit and two games behind fourth-place Boston.

TWIN BILL

Jim Nash, 9-6, and John Odom, 9-8, are expected to pitch for Oakland Wednesday as they meet New York in a doubleheader.

Chuck Dobson, 9-11, and Lew Krausse teamed up for a five-hitter in yesterday's first game and got bat support from pinch-hitters John Donaldson and Danny Cater, each of whom knocked in two runs.

Oakland took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Sal Bando led off with a triple and scored as Cleveland shortstop Larry Brown fell down while fielding Cater's grounder.

Oakland broke it open with four runs in the seventh.

SCORING

Sal Bando's single, a walk and Cater's double produced one run and an intentional walk filled the bases before Donaldson cracked a two-run double. Bert Campaneris brought in another run with an infield single.

In the nightcap, a fourth-inning explosion gave Cleveland and Steve Hargan, 7-11, the victory. Oakland's Jim "Catfish" Hunter, 9-9, took the defeat.

The Indians broke a 2-2 tie in the second game with five runs in the fourth.

Russ Snyder knocked in one run with a double, pinch hitter Tommy Harper brought in two more with a double and Lou Johnson scored a run with a single. He stole second and scored on Tony Horton's single.

TAKES LEAD

Cleveland took a 1-0 lead in the first on Lee Maye's single. Campaneris singled home Jim Gosger to tie it in the Athletics' third but Horton's double scored Maye to make it 2-1 in the bottom of the frame.

Oakland came back for the 2-2 tie in the top of the fourth on Mike Hershberger's single.

Singles by Campaneris scored single Oakland runs in the fifth and ninth.

SAYS SCHOLLANDER:

Meet To Build Confidence

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Only five world records and 10 meet marks fell in the 18th AAU Outdoor Swimming Championships, but don't worry about the United States in the Olympics this fall in Mexico City.

"This was primarily a meet for the young kids to build up their confidence for the Olympic Trials," said Yale's Don Schollander, a four-time gold medalist at the 1964 Olympics.

"The world records will come at the Olympic Trials," he predicted yesterday. "Most of the top swimmers already had qualified for the trials."

Schollander, a graybeard of 22, was himself dethroned in both the 100 and 200-meter freestyle events he has ruled for five years. He was beaten by Mark Spitz, his 18-year-old Santa Clara Club teammate.

Spitz, a triple winner and leading men's scorer in the meet, was himself upset in the 200 butterfly Saturday by 23-year-old Mark Robie, an Olympic silver medalist who competed at Michigan.

"I needed a good meet going into the trials," Robie said.

UCLA's Mike Burton missed his bid for a world 1,500-meter freestyle record last night. So did 15-year-old Debbie Meyer in the women's but she had a consolation prize—a world 800-meter record of 9:17.8 en route to her meet mark of 17:38.5.

Burton barely held off 15-year-old John Kinsella of Hinsdale, Ill., 16:29.4 against 16:29.6. Both broke Burton's meet and American citizen's mark of 16:34.1 but missed the pending world mark of 16:28.1 set July 7 by Mexico's Guillermo Echevarria, who was third in 16:40.2.

Ralph Hutton of Canada, a product of Foothill Club at Los Altos, was fourth in 16:49.3 in the swiftest mass 1500 finish in swimming history.

Miss Meyer's 15-year-old teammate, Victoria King, recorded 17:55.6, making her only the second woman in history under 18 minutes.

Kinsella was 27.6 seconds under his best; Miss King, 18.4 under hers.

The blossoming of these two youngsters adds to American domination in the distances. The world rankings show the United States dominating in all events except the men's breast and back strokes, 100 and 200, and the women's butterfly and backstroke.

"We're close in the backstroke, but in bad shape in the breast," said George Haines of Santa Clara, U.S. men's Olympic coach. "Otherwise we're in good shape. I think Burton will go down under 16:20 in the trials."

Sue Pedersen of Sacramento was the top women's scorer. She was runner-up to Claudia Kolb in the 200 individual medley and to Jane Barkman of Philadelphia in the 100-free last night. Peru's Juan Bello took the men's 200 medley.

Arizona State's Ann Peterson won the women's 10-meter platform diving with Olympic champion Lesley Bush second.

Novato American Legion Nine Loses In Finals, 2-1

Out Novato way, they call the area "American Legion Tournament Heartbreak Alley." It certainly has been no fun for the Novato American Legion baseball team the past two years.

For the second straight year, Novato struggled from way back, fought its way into the finals, then lost the championship and any further glory by a run.

This time, Novato, after winning its opener over Oroville, 3-1, lost to host Woodland, 4-2 Friday, came back Saturday to dump highly-touted Chessian-Evan, 6-5 and Woodland again, 4-3, then blanked previously unbeaten Eureka, 3-0, yesterday only to lose in the extra game, 2-1, despite outhitting the foe.

An error and three straight singles did Novato in last night in a two-run sixth inning, handing Steve McNally his second tourney loss after Russ Dillon had hit a homer for Novato's only run.

McNally gave up only five hits while Novato got eight.

Practically all of Novato's pitching staff took part in the 3-0 game that forced another battle. McNally, the winner, pitched three innings of one-hit ball; Dillon allowed two hits in two, and big Mike Timmel finished up with two hits on four innings, striking out seven, walking none.

Timmel was the mound hero for Novato, winning two games, in addition to hurling in the first Eureka game. He walked none in his tourney work, beating Oroville and Woodland in the process.

Tom Thomas produced the game-winner against Chessian-Evans, which had gone into the tourney with a 25-0 mark. It was Dave Edson with a game-winner in the second-Woodland battle.

Last year, Novato lost to Fair Oaks of Sacramento, 3-2, in the championship game.

Pressure Putts Win Tourney For Whitworth

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI)—Kathy Whitworth could give the men a few tips about pressure golf.

The 28-year-old brunette from Monahans, Tex., put on one of the most dazzling displays of pressure putting on the Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour yesterday when she sank three crucial putts in a row to beat Marlene Hagge in a sudden-death playoff and win the $15,000 Gino Paoli Women's Open championship.

Miss Whitworth, the second leading money winner on the ladies' tour this year, trailed Mrs. Hagge by a stroke with only two holes left to play when she canned a 35-foot putt for a birdie on the par three, 17th hole to draw even.

Then on the 18th hole, after Mrs. Hagge had putted out to finish at 215 for the 54-hole tourney, Miss Whitworth dropped a five-foot putt for a par to even the match and force a playoff.

The most dramatic moment was yet to come for the 5-foot, 8½-inch Texan, however, as she canned a 10-foot putt for a birdie on the first extra hole to win the title and take the first prize money of $2,250.

Old-Timers In Repeat Of History

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just as they did 10 years ago when the Giants and Dodgers brought major league baseball to the West Coast, San Francisco blanked Los Angeles in a three-inning old-timers game yesterday.

In a game marking the 10-year anniversary of the move, the Giants pushed across two runs in the third inning for a 2-0 victory. On April 15, 1958, San Francisco stopped the Dodgers, 8-0, in the first game on the West Coast.

Doubles by Danny O'Connell and Willie Mays and Hank Sauer's single produced the two runs off pitcher Ed Roebuck. Don Drysdale, who lost the opener in 1958, played right field and collected two of the Dodgers' five hits.

Sandy Koufax pitched a scoreless first inning for the Dogers, though yielding a single to Harvey Kuenn and walking first baseman Mays. Ray Jablonski singled for the Giants' other hit.

Del Crandall's double and singles by Irv Noren and Bill Virdon represented the other Dodger hits. Drysdale was trapped off second base on the hidden ball trick executed by O'Connell.

Novato Nine Captures DiMaggio League Crown

The magical mystery race of the Marin County Joe DiMaggio League baseball season has finally run its course and it is no longer a mystery.

Novato's Annex Motors nailed down the title yesterday with a merry 14-6 romp over the Presidio Toros to finish with an 11-3 record, a game ahead of Toby's Truckers.

The Truckers nicked Herb's Pool Service, 5-4, to take sole possession of second place at 10-4, for what it's worth.

In yesterday's only other game, Indian Valley downed Maggi's Florists, 3-1.

The victory and the title put Annex Motors into the San Jose DiMaggio League Championships. The Marin County champs will carry three other players on their roster, to be chosen from the rest of the league.

The San Jose championships are slated for Aug. 22-25.

Tough Road For Sohner Softballers

Peninsula Paint of Pacific Grove scored three times in the fifth and once in the sixth to grab a 4-0 victory over Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo Saturday night in the State Softball Tournament in Santa Rosa.

Only a lead-off single by Ron McCamish and another single by Gary Swarm with two outs in the seventh inning marred an outstanding pitching performance by Pacific Grove's Merle Drake.

Between the two hits, Drake retired 20 consecutive Sohner hitters.

The loss thus presents the Treemen with a monumental task this weekend if they are to win the tourney and advance to the Western Regionals which serve as a stepping stone to the World Finals next month in Clearwater, Fla.

To win the State title, Sohner would have to win three games Saturday, then four more Sunday.

Suyderhoud Sets Record At Berkeley

It was long but it wasn't official.

Eighteen-year-old water ski king Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, already the world jump record holder, came through with a 161-foot leap at the California State Water Ski Championships at the Berkeley Aquatic Club yesterday but it won't count as a world mark.

It will go down as a national mark. The meet was not run under world rules but it doesn't matter anyway since Mike holds the official world mark already.

Mike did not compete in tricks Saturday, a college test at Sonoma State College forcing him to skip that department, but he finished third in the slalom yesterday.

A DAY FOR MUSIAL

Cubs Sweep Over Cards

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The new statue of Stan Musial outside St. Louis' Busch Stadium stands 10 feet tall. . .or about shoulder high to Leo Durocher and the Chicago Cubs.

Durocher's sky-high Cubs spoiled a Musial Appreciation day at St. Louis yesterday by bringing down the Cardinals 6-5 in a 13-inning struggle.

The Cubs have won six in a row, including three against the runaway National League leaders, and have shot from ninth place, on July 12, to second with a run of 18 victories in their last 23 games.

Musial, the N.L.'s seven-time batting king before he moved into the Cardinals' front office, donned his old uniform and joined former 1941 teammates during the pre-game ceremonies. The bronze statue, created by Carl Mose of Washington, D.C., was unveiled after the game at one of the main entrances to the stadium.

In between, a capacity crowd of 47,445 saw the Cubs battle St. Louis ace Bob Gibson to a standoff for 12 innings before beating reliever Joe Hoerner on a run-scoring pinch single by Lee Elia in the 13th.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles rookie Mike Kekich beat New York 2-0 with a one-hitter after the Mets won the doubleheader opener 8-4; Cincinnati downed Atlanta 6-4 in 12 innings; San Francisco topped Pittsburgh 2-0 and Philadelphia nipped Houston 3-2.

Gibson, gunning for his 13th straight triumph, settled for a no-decision after being tagged for five runs— two more than he'd allowed in any previous start since April 20.

The Cards' 16-game winner pitched out of a couple of early bases-loaded jams, was tagged for a seventh inning homer by Billy Williams that tied the game 3-3 and lost a 4-3 lead in the ninth when Al Spangler hit his first pitch for a homer—the first of the year for the Chicago outfielder.

Don Kessinger sent the Cubs ahead 5-4 with a run-scoring single in the top of the 12th but the Cards quickly retied it when Johnny Edwards, batting for Gibson, doubled and Lou Brock stroked an RBI single.

The Cubs finally pushed over the winning run in the 13th on Randy Hundley's single, a sacrifice and a two-out single to center by Elia, who went to the plate with one hit in 14 at-bats. It was the Cub utility man's first RBI of the season.

Kekich, who had lost five straight after an April 16th victory over Philadelphia, limited the Mets to two walks until the seventh, when Ron Swoboda lined a two-out single to right. The 23-year-old southpaw struck out 11 and got the only run he needed when Willie Davis singled in the third inning, stole second and scored on Ron Fairly's double.

Bud Harrelson poked four hits, Cleon Jones and Tommie Agee homered and Al Eeis' tie-breaking single keyed a two-run seventh inning rally as the Mets won the opener behind a 14-hit attack.

Jonny Bench snapped a 4-4 tie with a run-scoring single in the 12th and tallied an insurance run on Tony Perez' triple, leading the Reds past Atlanta into third place. The Braves had tied the game in the ninth on a two-run single by Joe Torre.

Clippers Win Again

OAKLAND (AP) — Suddenly, the Oakland Clippers are back in the running for the Pacific Division title in the North American Soccer League.

The Clippers downed the Los Angeles Wolves 4-0 yesterday for their fourth win in a row.

San Diego, the Pacific Division leader, dropped a 2-1 contest to Kansas City, and the Clippers moved to within 13 points of first place.

Sele Milosevic opened the Oakland scoring before 4,212 fans as he slammed in a six-yard shot at 3:05 of the first half.

Llija Mitic, the NASL's sixth leading scorer, made it 2-0 for the Clippers midway in the second half.

The Wolves lost forward George Piotti when the Los Angeles player was ejected shortly after Mitic's goal for arguing with referee Reggie Clark.

Edgar Marin and Ademar Saccone added the last two Oakland goals.

Oakland goalie Mirko Stojanovic recorded his 10th shutout, a department in which he leads the NASL.

Tiger Ace Denny McLain Keeps Rolling Right Along

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denny McLain, whose toes let the Detroit Tigers down a year ago, is making up for it with his arm this summer.

The ace of the Tiger staff won his 22nd game yesterday, beating Minnesota 2-1 and staying on schedule for his date with the record book.

McLain, 22-3, figures to get 13 or 14 more starts and needs eight victories to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934. His pace has kept Detroit on top of the American League and could pay off in the club's first pennant in 23 years.

It looked like the Tigers would end that long dry spell last year until McLain's foot fell asleep and he dislocated some toes with two weeks left in the season. The injury also dislocated the Tiger pennant dream and Boston walked off with the flag.

Now McLain, his foot awake and his arm alive, has the Tigers out in front again.

Elsewhere yesterday, Chicago battered Washington 7-2, Baltimore dumped New York 5-3, Boston Beat California 5-1 in the completion of a suspended game and then the Angels walloped the Red Sox 12-6, and Oakland split with Cleveland, winning the first game 5-0 and dropping the nightcap 7-4.

McLain scattered five hits and had the Twins shut out until the eighth when an error by Al Kaline, playing first base, set up an unearned run.

Kaline's sacrifice fly had driven in Dick McAuliffe, who tripled, in the top half of the eighth against loser Jim Kaat. A triple by Mickey Stanley and Bill Freehan's single drove in the Tigers' first run in the fourth.

The victory kept Detroit six games up on Baltimore. The Orioles won a wild one at New York with the winning run scoring on a disputed play at home plate.

Mark Belanger, who had opened the seventh inning with a single and worked his way to third on an error and a messed up pickoff play, scored the run on Dave Johnson's bouncer to short.

The Yankees argued on the call and while they did, Frank Robinson tried to slide in with another run. But the umpires had called time and the Orioles argued on that decision. Manager Ralph Houk of New York and Earl Weaver of Baltimore were both jawing with the umpires at the same time.

Tommy Davis, who drove in four runs Saturday, knocked three more home yesterday helping the White Sox beat Washington. Davis tagged his sixth home run and a two-run double as Jack Fisher won his sixth game.Paul Casanova homered for the Senators.

Ken Harrelson crashed a grand slam home run in the ninth inning, giving the Red Sox the victory over California in the completion of a game suspended June 13.

Then the Angels roared back in the nightcap with Rick Reichardt's three-run homer and five hits by Vic Davalillo including a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning leading the attack.

AFL Gets Off To A Good Start Against NFL Teams

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American Football League, over its first year jitters, has shook up the National League thus far in this season's miniature Super Bowls, and now it is Buffalo's chance to increase the vibrations.

The Bills, who contributed an 0-2 record in last year's 3-12 AFL interleague exhibition debut, and the Detroit Lions of the NFL crack heads tonight in Buffalo's War Memorial Stadium.

AFL clubs already have won two games, and lost one, in the first week of this year's exhibitions after a split during the weekend.

San Diego of the AFL scored twice in the last two minutes for a 30-18 victory over San Francisco of the NFL, while AFL defending champion Oakland lost to Baltimore and Johnny Unitas 14-12 Saturday night. Houston owns the AFL's other interleague victory, beating Washington 9-3 last Thursday.

In other games Saturday, the Chicago Bears edged the Dallas Cowboys 30-24 in the all-NFL Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio, in the afternoon, and Kansas City spoiled expansion Cincinnati's debut 38-14 in an AFL game at Cincinnati at night.

The Bills, who dropped a 19-17 decision to Detroit last year, will start a veteran lineup, with only starting right end Paul Costa, offensive tackle Dick Hudson and split end Bobby Crockett sitting out. Jack Kemp will be at quarterback with Elbert Dubenion, Wray Carlton and Keith Lincoln completing the backfield.

However, the Lions, who were shocked by Denver before beating two AFL clubs last season, will be minus hospitalized starting quarterback Bill Munson. Veteran Karl Sweetan will replace him.

Detroit will have rookie kicker Jerry DePoyster from the College All-Star game, but quarterback Greg Landry and flanker Earl McCullouch, who also starred for the All-Stars in the 34-17 loss to Green Bay Friday night, are not expected to see much action.

Chicago rookie Willie Derion returned a punt 62 yards in the final quarter for the Bears' victory, but it wasn't decided until the Bears stopped Dallas on a fourth down situation 18 yards from the goal line in the last minute.

Another Chicago rookie, Cecil Turner, and Lance Rentzel of Dallas each scored two touchdowns.

Kansas City ruined Paul Brown's return to coaching as Mike Garrett ran for two touchdowns and the Chiefs' defense stopped the Bengals with only two first downs until late in the game.

At Canton, seven football greats were inducted into the Hall of Fame—Marion Motley, Elroy Hirsch, Charley Trippi, Wayne Milner, Cliff Battles, Art Donovan and Alex Wojciechowicz.

It Looks Like Same Old 49ers

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers this year sport a new head coach, a new defense and a new offense, yet the boys in the cardinal and gold look like the same old 49ers.

Head Coach Dick Nolan had his team back at work today trying to learn something from the 30-18 drubbing they took Saturday night at the hands of the San Diego Chargers.

MISERABLE

San Francisco shook off a miserable first half performance to gain an 18-17 lead in the final minutes of the fourth period. But then the Chargers drove for one score with just under two minutes left and then put the frosting on their cake by intercepting a John Brodie aerial for the final touchdown.

If you're a diehard 49er fan, you're an optimist though and can say it takes time to make the new system work.

San Francisco had only three weeks to digest its new type of play and the team also lacked some starters because of Army reserve obligations.

Brodie sparked the tean to its second half rally. Trailing 17-3 at the half, the veteran field general steered the 49ers on two long touchdown marches to put them ahead briefly before the defense faltered.

Rauch Is Satisfied By Raider Showing

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Raider Coach John Rauch, relieved that his star quarterback Daryle Lamonica, was not injured seriously, says he's satisfied with his team's showing in a 14-12 defeat by the Baltimore Colts Saturday night.

The defending American Football League champion Raiders spotted Baltimore of the National League a 14-0 halftime lead and with Lamonica, the most valuable player in 1967 out of the lineup, nearly made up the difference in the second half.

"For a first exhibition game," said Rauch, "I thought it was a good workout for us. There were some things to be desired in timing and execution, but we weren't playing as units since I wanted to get a look at some of our new people and I think it broke down our continuity."

Lamonica was scheduled to go the first half against the Colts, but came out of the game a little early when he was flattened during a sideline run by Baltimore safety Rick Volk in the second period.

The Oakland quarterback suffered only a leg sprain, but Rauch took no chances and put Cotton Davidson in for the rest of the game.

Before Volk caught up with Lamonica, he had made it 26 yards down the field, the longest run of the day for either team.

Johnny Unitas, stymied by a fierce Oakland rush for the better part of the first quarter, came to life late in the period and began finding receivers all over the field.

Passes to halfback Tom Matte and flanker Willie Richardson played a big part in both Baltimore touchdowns. Matte scoring the first one on a 1-yard plunge and fullback Jerry Hill the second on a 2-yard dash.

George Blanda kicked two field goals, from 9 and 29 yards, for the Raiders.

Today is Monday, Aug. 5, the 218th day of 1968 with 148 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1861 the U.S. government imposed its first income tax. All incomes over $800,000 were taxed 3 per cent.

In 1912 the Progressive Party, which bolted from the Republicans, met in Chicago to nominate Theodore Roosevelt for President.

In 1962 actress Marilyn Monroe died of an overdose of barbiturates.

In 1964 Premier Tshombe of the Congo tried to form a coalition government and failed.

A thought for the day: John Viscount Morley said, "No man can climb out beyond the limitations of his own character."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Even The Olympics Experts Can Snooze At The Playing Table

If the opponents fall asleep while you're thinking, you may have to try a play that merely seems to be right.

"This never happens to experts," your partner may complain, but he would be wrong. It happened to both sides in the match between France and Australia during the recent Bridge Olympics.

Claude Delmouly, of the French team, won the heart opening with dummy's ace, led a trump to his queen and returned a trump.

West put up the jack but declarer wisely played low from dummy.

East had to win with the ace, and dummy's king remained to draw West's ten of trumps later on.

MUCH THINKING

East cashed the king of hearts and then thought and thought. A heart return would give declarer a ruff-and-discard; a diamond might give declarer a free finesse.

Finally East shrugged his shoulders and led the ace of clubs.

Evidently, East hoped to find a singleton club in his partner's hand. But if South had two clubs he could hold only five diamonds and could throw only three clubs from dummy at most.

East could afford to return a diamond and wait for his club tricks if any.

DECLARER'S TURN

It was now declarer's turn to think and think. How could he protect himself against a possible 4-0 break in diamonds?

After an embarrassingly long pause Delmouly decided that his best chance was to discard a diamond rather than ruff.

This play looked good but was quite unnecessary.

If diamonds break 4-0, any reasonable defense defeats the contract no matter what South does about the ace of clubs.

But everything ended well for declarer, as it often does in these puzzling situations.

The diamonds broke normally, and Delmouly took the rest of the tricks, making his contract.

He had merely proven that even the best bridge players in the world are far from infallible.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♠ J 10 7
♦ J 10 2
♣ J 6 3.

Wht do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts This raise uusally promises four points in high cards, and your hand is worth only three points (one for each jack). Nevertheless, the three tens and the good intermediate cards in hearts should induce you to stretch a point.

Firmer Demand Seen In Aluminum Products

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Two years ago I purchased Alcan for growth. The market action of the shares has puzzled me since they have not moved up in the general rise. Should I continue to hold or take a loss? —R.L.

A. The puzzling action of Alcan is symptomatic of the entire aluminum industry.

In the late '50s investors, sensing a growing demand for the metal, willingly paid a premium for the shares. Price-earning rations of 50x were not uncommon. By the mid-'60s this infatuation waned as the cyclical nature of the industry became increasingly apparent. During 1967 softening of the economy slowed down aluminum consumption which in turn weakened prices, particularly in fabrication. Thus most producers reported lower earnings.

This year has brought a firmer demand, partly due to hedge buying aginst possible strikes, which did materialize in one of the industry's three unions, affecting 25% of U.S. production. Higher ingot and fabricated prices — justified by increased labor costs — will probably remain intact while the strike reduces production. Aluminum consumption by manufacturers of mobile homes is expected to grow substantially. Sales of these homes were 35% ahead of last year's total at this time.

In addition the prolonged copper strike forced large-scale wire and cable users to substitute aluminum, which is cheaper. These markets, too, whould expand. Higher levels of auto production and general construction plus further penetration into container fabrication should also bolster near-term consumption.

Against this industry background certain companies have maneuvered to strenghthen their individual positions.

Alcan is the world's leading fifth of total aluminum output. producer, accounting for one-The most significant change in this company's position has been a shift in end products. In 1956 about 20% of output was in fabricated deliveries; today's figure is around 50%, which has lessened Alcan's vulnerability to surplus smelter capacity. Outlays for recent expansion moves will level off this year and earning whould improve. Shares whould be retained for recovery and for ultimate long-range potential.

Redwood National Reports Assets Up

Redwood National Bank, San Rafael, has announced total assets of $25,879,055 at June 30, 1968. This compares with $25,672,000 reported at Dec. 31, 1967.

Total deposits stood at $23,231,442 at the end of the six-month period, compared with $23,022,000 at the end of 1967. Total loans were $16,115,816, up from $16,012,000 six months ago.

Allied Grape Advises Merger With Heublein

SAN FRANCISCO (BW)—The directors of Allied Grape Growers, a cooperative, and of its production and marketing subsidiary, United Vintners, Inc., have unanimously recommended that their members accept an offer to merge a major part of United with Heublein, Inc., of Hartford, Conn.

Allied Grape Growers and United Vintners are agricultural cooperatives representing 1,600 grower-owners in the California grape-growing areas.

United Vintners, headquartered in San Francisco, has annual sales of about $100 million. Allied Grape Growers is headquartered in Madera.

United processes about 27 per cent of the state's wine grapes for their 13 wineries and markets under brand names such as Inglenook, Napa Valley, Italian Swiss Colony and Petri and Lejon champagnes and brandies.

Heublein has its largest concentration of plants in California — a distilling plant at Menlo Park, Hamm's breweries in San Francisco and Los Angeles, and the coastal valley food plant at Oxnard.

There are 13 cities and towns in the United States named Atlanta.

Market Closes Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today after a third week of decline.

Gains outnumbered losses by more than 200 issues. Due to softness in some blue chips, the Dow Jones industrial average showed only a moderate gain.

The market rose from the start, broadened its advance to some extent, and held at about that level until late in the day.

Occidental Petroleum, up a fraction, paced the list on activity.

Among other very active stocks, Republic Corp. gained 3, Occidental preferred 2, Atlantic Richfield (new) about 2, Commercial Credit, Mobil Oil, Sunasco, and Chrysler about a point each.

Carpenter Steel advanced about 1½, but Electronic Specialty dropped 5, following news that the two planned to merge.

Computer Sciences lost about a point, and Western Union remained untraded late in the day after word came that merger talks had been ended.

Jones & Laughlin slid more than a point. Most other major steels were lower.

Gains of a point or so were posted for International Paper, Schering and Zenith.

Down a point or so were Goodrich, American Smelting, IBM, Penn Central and Texacon on the American Stock Exchange.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

TREASURE BENEATH WAVES

Big Industries Joining In Undersea Exploration Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is plunging into the science of oceanography in hopes of reaping profits from the wealth of resources in and beneath the seas.

The hidden treasures include oil, minerals and food.

"Just as the seas are the last great area for physical exploration on the planet, they are also the last great area for economic expansion," says Dr. Charles F. Jones, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

The big brokerage firm Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith includes oceanography in its list of five emerging industries. The others are medical technology, nuclear energy, learning aids and pollution control.

The federal government spearheaded research into the realm of oceanography. The oceanographic activities of 22 federal agencies may involve an expenditure of $500 million next year.

CORPORATE PROGRAMS

"Three hundred of the nation's 500 largest corporations have ocean science programs of their own," reports Oilways, a publication of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

"Scores of smaller companies are developing marine-oriented services and products. And eager newscomers are diving in every day.

But Samuel A. Jordan, manager of Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s Underseas Division, cautions against thinking that a harvest of wealth from the oceans is just around the corner.

"In the immediate future the outlook is uncertain," he says. "But we want to be ready. For the long haul you can be optimistic. Ten or 15 years from now there probably will be production from deep oil wells and the more sophisticated food areas."

MOSTLY VESSELS

Current manufacturing activity in the oceanographic field is mainly confined to submersible vessels, research instruments and equipment to enable man to operate at great depths.

In its projection of oceanography's future as a commercial undertaking, Merrill Lynch says scientists believe the greatest riches of the ocean, which cover 71 per cent of the earth's surface, lie on the continental shelves surrounding the land masses.

"Efforts to exploit the ocean's resources now and in coming decades will probably be limited to these shelves," the brokerage firm says.

"In trying to create the tools and techniques that will be needed, the government and many private companies in this country are giving rise to a new industry."

So far, industry's biggest and most profitable oceanographic venture has been offshore production of oil and gas. Offshore wells provide 16 per cent of the petroleum produced in the Western world and are expected to account for 40 per cent 10 years from now.

Oil companies have paid the government more than $1.7 billion in the last 13 months for offshore leases.

Companies now are extracting sulphur, manganese, salt and bromine from the seas. In the future they may be able to remove from deep-water manganese nodules not only manganese but rich deposits of nickel, copper and cobalt.

Many companies are optimistic about the possibilities. Frank Compton, who heads the Ocean Division of North American Rockwell Corp., a manufacturer of aircraft, missiles and electronics products, predicts that within 10 years underwater business will account for 20 to 25 per cent of his company's business.

Other major companies prominently engaged in oceanographic research and production include Bendix, General Dynamics, Grumman Aircraft Engineering, Litton Industries, Lockheed Aircraft and Texas Instruments.

Budget Session For West Marin

A public hearing on a $261,449 publication budget for the West Marin School District will be held at 8 p.m. today in West Marin School.

The budget was cut more than $15,000 at the last meeting when the board of trustees learned repairs could be made to the existing heating system. Earlier, the board thought a new system would be needed.

An estimate of the 1968-69 tax rate has not been announced. The tax rate for the past fiscal year was $2.02 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board is also expected to consider a dress and appearance policy for the school.

Driver Fined

Marie Decator Gehlen, 36, of 13 Buccaneer Court, Corte Madera, was fined $100; and placed on six months probation Friday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested her April 7 on Highway 101.

Fairfax School Budget On Tap

A public hearing on a budget that includes a tax cut will be held at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow by the Fairfax School District board in the district office.

The proposed budget totals $906,561, reduced from a preliminary budget of $911,214. It is still higher than last year's budget of $696,272.

The tax rate is expected to be $3.004 per $100 assessed valuation. The 1967-68 tax rate was $3.035.

The board is also expected to hold a closed meeting to discuss possible firing of an employee, an issue delayed from the last meeting at the request of Supt. H. Reginald Hammond.

Suicide Center Faces Shutdown For Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The city's Suicide Prevention Center needs money.

Without more funds, the small non-profit organization will have to close Sept. 1, officials said Friday.

The new Mercedes-Benz 250: so "over-engineered" it's loafing–even at grueling turnpike speeds.

Humming along at turnpike speeds, a test driver demonstrates a quick lane-change maneuver on a wet road. The Mercedes-Benz 250 remains perfectly balanced.

The highest posted speed limit in the U.S. is 80 miles per hour. (On the Kansas Turnpike.)

At 80 mph, the new Mercedes-Benz 250 isn't even breathing hard. Reason: it's designed for the wide-open highways of Europe, where there are no speed limits.

On stretches of Germany's autobahn, drivers regularly push their cars as fast as they'll go—rushing along at full throttle for hours on end. The engines of many conventional cars can go all to pieces under these conditions, but the Mercedes-Benz 250 remains utterly unflappable.

Overhead-camshaft engine

One of the main reasons: the Mercedes-Benz 250 has an engine with an overhead camshaft.

In conventional engines, the camshaft operates the valves by "remote control." The camshaft is in one part of the engine, the valves in another. In between are devices called "pushrods." It looks good in theory, but in practice it's a little like trying to play the piano with knitting needles.

Mercedes-Benz engineers took a long, dim view of this complicated system, and devised a simpler, much more direct approach. They poised the camshaft just above the valves, where it "plays" them with beautifully machined "fingers." Sweet music.

What "over-engineering" means to you

One automotive critic described the new Mercedes-Benz 250 as "over-engineered."

He's right—by conventional standards, it is. In design and construction the new Mercedes-Benz 250 goes far beyond the requirements for conventional automobiles.

An engine that's more relaxed at turnpike speeds is one good example of what "over-engineering" means in practical terms to the man who owns a Mercedes-Benz. Here are some more.

10,000 body welds

Most conventional cars have a separate body and chassis, held together with bolts. After a few thousand miles, the body flexes and the bolts can work loose. On a washboard road, the rattles can be deafening.

Mercedes-Benz eliminated the body bolts. Instead, body and chassis are welded together with over 10,000 individual welds. Result: a structure of immense strength and rigidity. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

Conventional sedans usually have a metal rod connecting the front wheels. It's called an "anti-sway" bar, and it resists body lean on sharp corners. Without it, the car would wallow—or the front springs would have to be made so stiff that the car would ride like a truck.

Mercedes-Benz engineers took this idea one step further. They included an anti-sway bar at the rear wheels, too—part of the 250's sensational new independent rear suspension. Result: a vastly superior ride, but still no mush, sway or wallow—even on hairpin turns.

Many ordinary cars still have old-fashioned drum-type brakes. Good enough for most situations, but they can be marginal in a "panic stop."

Today's 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars use disc brakes. So does the new Mercedes-Benz 250. And not just on the front wheels, but on every wheel. Drum brakes are cheaper, but disc brakes give you the most precise braking money can buy. So Mercedes-Benz engineers insist on 4-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment. With 421.1 square inches of effective braking area, it's virtually impossible to outrun the 250's brakes.

"Fatigue-proof" seats

Take a day-long trip in some cars and you'll wind up feeling like a wrung-out washrag. The Mercedes-Benz 250 is engineered as much for human comfort as it is for mechanical efficiency.

Orthopedic physicians were consulted in the design of the 250's seats so you'll have proper support on cross-country tours as well as short hops to the supermarket. When you first slip into one of the 250's carefully contoured seats, it may seem firm, but once you get used to it, you'll never settle for "marshmallow" seats again. Mercedes-Benz engineers have respect for your backbone.

The Mercedes-Benz 250 is ideal for turnpike travel: individual front seats, rear seat almost 5 feet wide, and 20.5 cu. ft. of trunk space.

Engineering—not status

These are just a few of the dozens of advanced engineering features that made the new Mercedes-Benz 250 the star of the 1968 Brussels Auto Show.

The 250's enthusiastic reception was expected. This 3,000-lb., 5-passenger sports sedan rivals the most expensive Mercedes-Benz models in finish, and the famous 280SL sports car in its agile handling ability. And its functional, no-nonsense appearance—devoid of faddish touches—will be as pleasing years later as it is today.

The Mercedes-Benz 250 is a car for people who would rather spend their money on engineering than status. At $5,150,* it could be one of the shrewdest investments you'll ever make.
